Hospital facing a shortfall of £40m

STAFFORD Hospital is expected to face a £40 million shortfall in its finances by the end of this year.

The Weston Road site is being taken over by the University Hospital of North Staffordshire on November 1 - and chief executive Mark Hackett said its dire finances were getting worse.

At the end of August the trust's deficit stood at £22.3m and Mr Hackett said it was spending nearly £4m a month over budget.

Mr Hackett has insisted that millions of pounds are being ploughed into Stafford to improve facilities and standards of care. But he said the imminent takeover by UHNS faced challenges as the hospital is 'unstable'.

He said: "Stafford Hospital is this year expected to have a £40m deficit, with £3.9m a month overspend."

"We want to rejuvenate the hospital but Stafford is a classic example of one that is clinically and financially unstable."

Cheryl Porter, co-founder of Support Stafford Hospital, said: "It's a joke. A year ago, the deficit had been brought down to £8.5 million by the Trust Special Administrators from the previous £15m shortfall."

"Since then the hospital has faced a lot of uncertainty and we've lost a lot of staff as a result."

Coffee time fundraiser

A COFFEE morning in aid of a Cannock church takes place this weekend.

Hosted by the Chadsmoor Tapestry Group, it is being held on Saturday (October 11) from 10.30am to noon at Chadsmoor Methodist Church, Cannock Road.

In addition to coffee and cakes there will be a gift stall selling hand-made goods, a tombola and a raffle.

Admission is free and all proceeds will go to the church.

Church closes on fundraising target

A CHURCH that needed roof repairs totalling more than £200,000 is now just over a thousand pounds away from hitting its target.

St Anne's church in Chasetown launched the appeal for the urgent work following a report in 2011 and a team of fundraisers began applying for donations to save the Church Street building.

Angela Smith, who has been at the forefront of the fundraising efforts, said: "Every five years the diocese requires us to have a report. During the last report inspectors found that we needed the roof replaced urgently as water had started to get into the building."

"The estimated cost of repairs was £200,922 including labour costs so we started applying for grants straight away."

The church needed to have the roof replaced, the guttering repaired and restoration work to the stone work.

Grants and pledges have totalled £185,500 with the most significant grant coming from the Heritage Lottery Fund which donated £152,000. The National Churches Trust and Garfield Weston Foundation have each pledged £10,000 and Midland Expressway Limited have donated £1,000 to the fund.

Mrs Smith said: "Donations from the congregation and the local community have also been fantastic and through various events we have raised over £14,000."

"We are now very close to our target, providing the costs do not increase during the final stages of the work."

Report by Laura Blyth

A FORMER working men's club in Cannock town centre could be turned into an alcohol and drugs rehabilitation centre, under new plans revealed this week.

The old Progressive Working Men's Club would be converted if the plans are given the go ahead by the district council.

The club, which is close to the bus station and opposite the Cannock Campus of South Staffordshire College, has been closed for around four years.

The charity Addiction Dependency Solutions Staffordshire is behind the proposals.

Bosses say they will spend a 'significant' amount of money on the building and say the move is part of a transformation of alcohol and drug services in the area.

Transform

Chris Judge, service delivery director for the charity, said that when it won a contract to run substance misuse services throughout Staffordshire it had outlined how staff planned to 'transform' services making them 'much more recovery focussed and responsive to the needs of local communities throughout Staffordshire'.

He added: "Part of that vision involves delivering services in a variety of locations throughout the county and making our services accessible."

"Treatment services have been delivered in Cannock for a number of years."

"We are hoping to secure the old Progressive Working Men's Club which has Cannock Progressive WMC been unused for a number of years.

"One Recovery Staffordshire will be investing a significant amount of money to turn the premises into a modern and inspiring building, in doing this we are able to reduce the impact of substance misuse on the service user, their families and the communities of Cannock."

Cannock East Councillor Muriel Davis said she had no objections to the location. She said: "I don't think the location makes any difference."

"There is a similar facility in Park Road in Cannock. We need as much help with people with drug addictions as we can get."

Cannock South Councillor Maureen Freeman added: "The club has been closed for quite some time now. I don't know what it looks like inside but from the outside it looks all right really."

EU probe over tax paid by Amazon

ONLINE retailer Amazon, which has a major distribution centre in Rugeley, is the latest firm to face a probe by the European Commission (EC) over its tax affairs.

It follows EC investigations into the tax affairs of Apple, Starbucks and the financial arm of Fiat.

Most of Amazon's European profits are recorded in Luxembourg, but are not taxed in the state. The EC is to investigate a 2003 tax agreement between Luxembourg and the retailer to see if it complies with state aid rules.

The EC suspects that Luxembourg's agreement with Amazon amounts to a distortion of competition.

In a statement, the retailer said: "Amazon has received no special tax treatment from Luxembourg - we are subject to the same tax laws as other companies operating here."

The EC will look at the way an Amazon subsidiary in Luxembourg pays a tax deductible royalty to a limited liability partnership in the state that is not subject to corporation tax.

Amazon has recently had plans to expand its fulfilment centre in Wheelhouse Road approved. It will see an extra 350 full time staff being taken on. Amazon is also recruiting 2,500 temporary workers for Christmas.

Stadium bid now lodged

MULTI-MILLION pound plans to redevelop the former Cannock Stadium site and create a new sports complex have been submitted.

Cannock Chase Council wants to create football pitches, allotments, an outdoor gym and community centre on the site off Pye Green Road.

A decision will be made on the scheme in the next few months. If approved, work on the complex will start in April.

Smokers are targeted in campaign

CANNOCK'S 20,000 smokers are being targeted in a new campaign being supported by comedian Paddy McGuinness.

Chase Council chiefs estimate a fifth of its population, which also includes people living in Rugeley and Hednesford, smokes.

The authority is backing the national Stoptober campaign, a 28-day initiative from Public Health England which is encouraging smokers to swap their 'fags for gags' during most of October.

Also helping would-be quitters through the challenge are comics Al Murray, Simon Brodwin, better known as the characters Lee Nelson and Jason Bent, and Andi Osho.

Councillor Muriel Davis, Cannock's health leader, said: "I know from personal experience that stopping smoking can be a difficult process but with the support of family and friends success quitting can have significant health, monetary and social benefits.

Tools

"I would encourage smokers across the district to sign up for Stoptober. Evidence shows that if a smoker can go 28 days without a cigarette, they are five times more likely to stay permanently smoke-free."

Stoptober provides smokers with a range of free tools including a new stop smoking pack, a 28-day mobile phone app, text support, quitting advice and tips for coping, as well as support from thousands of people quitting together through Stoptober social media channels.

Thousands protest at breast surgery move

ALMOST 9,000 signatures opposing proposals to move breast cancer services from Wolverhampton to Cannock have been handed into health bosses.

New Cross Hospital chiefs plan to move non-emergency surgery to Cannock Hospital, in Brunswick Road, as part of a radical £30 million takeover.

The plans would see breast cancer patients who have surgery that requires an overnight stay treated at Cannock.

Only cases deemed 'complex' will remain at New Cross with outpatients and day cases being treated at either site depending on the choice of the individual.

But the plans have been met with fury by campaigners, Wolverhampton Breast Cancer Action and Support Group.

The group, which has 120 members, has collected a total of 8,882 signatures by going out three days a week for the last four weeks, to supermarkets, the city centre, Wolves games and outside the Light House Media Centre.

Flawed

Support group chairman Jean Hancox from Tottenhall said: "They have been queuing to sign our petition which shows how many people are behind us.

"We are against the move of planned surgery to Cannock and we believe that the consultation has been flawed. Our aim is to keep breast surgery in Wolverhampton."

A statement from the Royal Hospital NHS Trust said it was committed to listening to and reviewing all comments.

Dr Dan de Rosa, chairman of Wolverhampton Clinical Commissioning Group, said:

"There is plenty of time for people to have their say in the consultation."

The consultation can be viewed at www.wolverhamptonnccg.nhs.uk

Student wings in for award

A SOUTH Staffordshire College catering student enjoyed a taste of the limelight when he collected a coveted award.

David Pullin, a Level 2 catering student at the college's Cannock Campus, was handed a Student Chef of the Year award at a top London venue.

David, aged 17, picked up first prize for his starter 'Oasis of the Middle East' which included a turkey bonbon, yellow split pea hummus, shredded turkey wing in Moroccan style chutney, saffron couscous, Arabic flatbread shard and a mint yoghurt dip. He cooked his winning dish for 370 guests at the British Turkey Awards at The Savoy, where he was presented with this award by comedian Patrick Kielty.

The competition, organised by British Turkey, challenges students from catering colleges nationwide to develop an innovative and delicious starter and main course using any cut of turkey. This year's theme was 'Arabian Nights' and David competed against 16 students shortlisted for the cook-off.

Paul Kelly, British Turkey Federation chairman, said: "The level of entries really impressed the judges. The standard was very high and the students certainly embraced the Arabian Nights brief."

Vehicles seized in initiative now 2,700

ALMOST 2,700 vehicles have been seized in a crackdown on car insurance dodgers across Staffordshire, new figures show.

In July alone police stopped 277 uninsured drivers, the highest monthly figure since the start of 2012.

The rolling campaign, dubbed Cars Behind Bars, was launched in May last year by Police & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis.

It has seen 2,669 vehicles, including a tractor, seized, with around a third of them scrapped as a result.

Mr Ellis said: "The crackdown on insurance dodgers remains far and away the most popular thing raised with me by people I've spoken to across Staffordshire."

"It's clear that the message is hitting home as the number of insured motorists on Staffordshire roads has again risen significantly."

"Almost 2,700 people have now had to learn their lesson the hard way thanks to tremendous work by officers from Staffordshire Police, which has really gained momentum in recent months."

The crackdown uses Automatic Number Plate Recognition system to identify those breaking the law.

Extra funds for campaign

A CAMPAIGN warning young people of the dangers of emotional abuse has been extended after almost 40 teenagers in the Cannock Chase district were referred to a support organisation.

Extra funding, provided by the Chase Community Partnership, has also been put in to educate 13-to-18-year-olds about abusive relationships.

Some 37 young people have been referred to Staffordshire Women's Aid since the campaign started in June last year.

A second phase will be launched this month.

There are approximately 152,000 strokes in the UK every year, more than one every five minutes.

Project co-ordinator Helen Turnbull said: "The volunteer will be provided with an information folder containing information about services, classes, facilities and groups in their area."

"At the Stroke Association will fully support the volunteers and will help them through this exciting role."

For more information, call Helen on 07712 327539.

MP in tighter measures call after M6 arrests

AN MP has called for tighter border controls after suspected illegal immigrants were arrested on the M6.

Three men were held after being found walking along the hard shoulder of the motorway between Hilton Park services and Junction 11 for Cannock.

Drivers spotted the men walking on the northbound carriageway in the early hours of last Thursday (October 2).

They called police who arrested the men just before 3.30am. They were being dealt with by the UK Border Agency. Three hours later, another two suspected illegal immigrants were arrested near the M5 in West Bromwich. The men, aged 26 and 28, were stopped in Holyhead Road off Junction 1.

They were arrested on suspicion of immigration offences after it was believed their permission to work in this country had expired.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson said it showed 'very clearly the need for tighter security measures at borders', and comes less than two weeks after an illegal immigrant managed to hitch a 200-mile ride to the UK on a bus belonging to Perry Beeches Academy in Great Barr.

The 35-year-old man, believed to be from Sudan, had ridden on the vehicle's axle after climbing underneath near the Euro-tunnel Calais terminal in France.

When the school coach, which was full of youngsters, arrived back at Perry Beeches Academy in Birmingham, the man emerged from underneath the vehicle. Mr Williamson, whose constituency covers Great Wyrley, Cheslyn Hay and Huntington, said: "There has to be one clear message for anyone who enters the country illegally - they will be thrown out immediately and returned to where they came from."

He added: "This outlines the challenges that the UK Border Agency faces in protecting our borders. There needs to be tighter security to ensure there are not more incidents like this as it is happening too often."

Hundreds fit the criteria for claiming free alarms

ALMOST 250 pensioners and vulnerable adults will have to pay for pendant alarms in their own homes.

Users had to prove they met certain criteria to continue receiving the service for free after the county council announced it was pulling funding.

By Laura Blyth

A total of 1,263 residents meet all the criteria, according to Cannock Chase Council, which currently delivers the alarms - allowing older people to request help if they have an accident at home - for free. However, 247 people face paying for the service from now on.

District council bosses offered to run a scaled-down version after the county council announced it was slashing funding to save £214,000 from its budget.

Eligible

Cannock Chase Council spokesman Kate McBey said: "To date the number of people who are eligible against all the criteria for the Cannock Chase Council funded community alarm service is 1,263 and we are in the process of confirming this by letter."

"A further 135 people meet all the criteria except one - the availability of a telephone landline. As long as they arrange the installation of a landline, they also will receive the free service."

"Overall, Cannock Chase Council expects that it will be providing a free service for approximately 1,350 people by March 2015." The council has selected Stoke-based firm Tunstall as the supplier of the new dispersed community alarm equipment. Installation has already begun.

The criteria includes being over the age of 70 or in receipt of a disability-related benefit. It will cost up to £86 a year for those not meeting the criteria.

The county council is slashing £6m from its Supporting People Grant, created to provide housing-based support to groups, including those with mental health problems and the elderly.

Bosses at Cannock Chase Council called the decision 'disturbing'.

The county council is having to make £102m cuts from its budget over the next five years.

As part of the cuts, 24 of the 43 libraries across the county would be taken over by volunteers to save £1.3 million over the next three years. Youth clubs also face the axe.

Raise a glass to new ale

STAFF from Staffordshire Wildlife Trust have helped with the bottling of a new fundraising ale. The Wild Wolsley ale, specially brewed by Slater's Ales, of Stafford, will raise funds towards the trust and its work. For every pint sold Slater's Brewery will donate 5p to the trust.

The four per cent strength blonde ale will be available in local pubs and direct from the brewer online at www.slatersales.co.uk

June Pickerill with her new book, Butchers, Bakers and Bonnet Makers

Diary of Victorian brought to book

A VICTORIAN diary given to an author has prompted her latest work.

June Pickerill's new work has been transcribed from a diary written by a 12-year-old girl in 1840.

Called Butchers, Bakers and Bonnet Makers: The Forgotten Diary of Daily Life in Early Victorian Cannock, it centres on the Linop family that ran the old Crown Hotel in Cannock.

The logbook was a two-year daily record and came into June's possession more than 10 years ago. She has been working on transcribing it ever since and has reproduced the diary as written by Mary Lindop at the time.

June, of Hednesford, will be signing copies on Saturday at Cannock Library, Manor Avenue, from 10.30am to 12.30pm and at the Museum of Cannock Chase, Valley Road, Hednesford, from 11.30am on Wednesday, October 22.

It costs £12.99 and is on sale at the museum, at Daisy Chain in Hednesford, Heath Hayes, Hazel Slade and Burntwood post offices and at WHSmith in Cannock and Lichfield. It is also available at Mount Chase Press on 01543 422891. Postage within the UK is free.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

TOLD you so. If you celebrated October 1 by chucking away your car tax disc before it expires, then holk it out of the bin and stick it straight back on your windscreen. For it is now revealed that ANPR, the automatic number-plate recognition equipment designed to detect tax-dodgers, manages to misread about 1.2 million number plates every day.

COME to think of it, if the ANPR cameras get so many number plates wrong, how can the technology honestly be described as number-plate "recognition"? That's not recognition; it's barely a nodding acquaintance.

THE excitement of the Scottish referendum persuaded thousands of folk to get themselves on the electoral roll in order to vote. Now comes news that some councils are using this information to chase them for council tax. Typical. You think you're voting for the New Jerusalem and you end up in Dodge City.

SO let's get this right. A new Tory government will ensure that, by the year 2020, everyone in England will be guaranteed a GP appointment with the doctor of their choice, seven days a week. Do we have to book the appointment now?

MOSTAFA Kashe (seriously) is suing Rod Stewart after being hit on the nose by a football kicked into the audience by the rock star at a gig in Las Vegas. Strange case. By now, almost the entire global population knows that, when confronted by a football, you catch it, kick it or head it. Only in America do you nose it.

WHO could hear Home Secretary Theresa May's plan to silence the preachers of hate without being reminded of Mrs Thatcher denying the IRA "the oxygen of publicity"? Back in the 1980s radio and TV were banned from broadcasting the voices of Republican spokesmen such as Gerry Adams and Martin McGuinness. So we had news reports (younger readers will probably not believe this) of these characters talking, with their voices removed and their words dubbed in by actors with Northern Irish accents. Bonkers but true.

ACCORDING to the RAF, its shiny new Typhoon, costing us taxpayers £110 million each, is "a multi-role combat aircraft, capable of being deployed in the full spectrum of air operations." So why is the Iraq operation being left to half-a-dozen 1980s vintage Tornados?

TALKING of old warhorses, I was sad to read that the world's only complete Horsa glider, as used on D-Day and at Arnhem, is gathering dust in a hanger at the RAF Museum at Cosford. A team of volunteers worked hard to restore the mighty assault glider and it's not even on public display. The news reminded me of a D-Day veteran of the Glider Pilot Regiment, Alf "Tug" Wilson, who before he died a few years ago, raged against "health-and-safety gone mad." Alf saw absolutely no reason why members of the public shouldn't enjoy flights in Cosford's restored Horsa with him (then in his 80s) at the controls. "Beautiful aircraft," he told me. "We could land them on a sixpence. And at least, with only one Horsa, Alf wouldn't have to worry about a repeat of his D-Day experience. As he was landing in Normandy through a curtain of anti-aircraft fire, another Horsa crashed on top of him with "one hell of a bang," but they all got down safely. Nothing to make a fuss about, he said. We don't breed 'em like that any more.

BE honest. Did you spend the last few halcyon days of September worrying about the horrors of global warming? Or did you just lie back in the hammock with a pint of ale,

Come forward, victims of breach urged

THE Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) has urged any victims of the South Staffordshire Homes Association (SSHA) data breach to come forward.

The data protection and information watchdog holds organisations to account and issues fines if it feels there have been serious mistakes. It has invited SSHA tenants with fears their personal details were published online to get in touch.

ICO spokesman David Murphy said: "There are clear laws around how organisations must look after the personal information they hold, particularly around keeping sensitive information secure."

"If people are not happy about how their information has been handled, then they can report those concerns to the ICO."

Meanwhile, a cyber crime expert has warned the victims may be vulnerable to online fraud. Tony Proctor, principal lecturer in cyber security at the University of Wolverhampton, said it was imperative that SSHA contact those affected as soon as possible.

He said any information, passwords or log-in details could be used by hackers to access people's other private online accounts.

He said: "What is important is South Staffordshire Housing Association contact the people affected as soon as possible."

Mr Proctor advised anyone worried they are a victim to visit www.actionfraud.police.uk which investigates internet and online fraud.

Tenants 'appalled' as personal data posted

By Adam Thompson

PERSONAL details belonging to thousands of housing tenants were mistakenly published online in a massive data blunder.

Names, addresses, telephone numbers, email addresses, details of illnesses and private family circumstances were made available on the website of South Staffordshire Housing Association (SSHA).

Cancer patients, former police officers, pensioners and disabled people were among those to have their details laid bare.

The data breach was described as 'horrendous' by South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson. He is now demanding an investigation.

SSHA, whose chairman is former South Staffordshire Council chief executive Rolf Levesley, has since taken down the information. It is carrying out an internal investigation into how the details were published and how long they were up for.

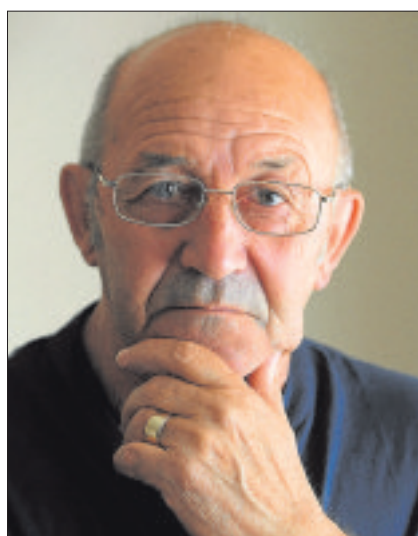

Contact

More than 3,500 private messages between tenants and SSHA dating from July 2009 to as recently as last Thursday were posted online via the association's Contact Us page. Staff are now contacting the thousands of people affected. The Information Commissioner is aware of the issue and awaiting contact from those affected.

SSHA manages nearly 6,000 homes covering South Staffordshire, Wolverhampton, Cannock, Stafford, Dudley and parts of Shropshire.

Stafford Borough Council confirmed it was victim to the breach and would be contacting the housing firm as a matter of urgency. Shocked tenants said they feel the trust between them and their landlord has been broken.

As well as being made public, the details and messages were also able to be edited and deleted. The computer IP addresses, which can be used to track individuals to their homes or businesses, were also published.

Violated - Frank Collington, of Weston Drive, Cheslyn Hay

Angry - Sue Sanders, of Queen Street, Cheslyn Hay

Mr Williamson said: "This is the most horrendous situation because people's private, important and personal details were there for all to see. This should never be allowed to happen."

SSHA said it was investigating. A statement read: "On Thursday October 2 we were notified that some details customers had sent to us using our website enquiries form were visible on the contacts page of our website."

"On being alerted, we immediately removed the relevant page from service to prevent any further information being submitted or being visible."

"The information involved was the content of enquiries forms that had been submitted through the website including any contact information that was included and the enquiry that was made. We are in the process of identifying everyone who was affected directly and the nature of their enquiries to establish if any were of a sensitive nature."

"Once we have done so we will contact everyone affected directly to explain what happened, to provide advice and reassurance, and to explain what actions we have taken."

Technical

"The website enquiries page is now back in service; the underlying technical issue having been fully identified and corrected."

Affected tenants say they are 'disgusted', 'violated' and 'appalled'. Details of Frank Collington and his wife Joy were published online. Mr Collington, from Cheslyn Hay, said: "I feel violated. If someone's done this on purpose, they should be instantly dismissed. But even if it's accidental, it's hardly acceptable."

"Anyone could get hold of these personal details."

Susan Sanders, 57, also of Cheslyn Hay, had details of her partner's medical condition revealed online. She said: "I am appalled by it. I had no idea when I contacted them that it would be up on the website for people to see."

"Anyone could get my details and call me and I expect an apology from them because someone hasn't done their job properly."

Information about Cannock mother-of-two Heather Smith was also shared on the website. She said: "I will be taking it further. I can't believe this has happened."

Briggs in £250,000 car parts firm deal

A CANNOCK firm has secured a new contract worth £250,000 to supply equipment to another company in the area.

Briggs Equipment will supply to Wednesbury-based Car Parts Industries, remanufacturers of automotive parts.

Briggs is supplying a mixture of forklift trucks and access equipment with a capital value of £250,000.

Under the terms of the five-year contract, Briggs is also providing a fully comprehensive maintenance and service package.

Jamie Palmer from Briggs Equipment said: "Car Parts Industries controls the entire remanufacturing process, from parts and production to sales and service, so it has to be able to rely on its materials handling fleet."

"Having worked closely with the purchasing team for the past 18 months we are delighted to have structured a package which gives CPI the flexibility to meet both existing and future requirements as its business continues to grow."

CPI's purchasing manager Darren Causer added: "Briggs was the only real choice, providing a solution that will deliver the product reliability and quality of service we require."

Adult carers can meet up

ADULT carers can meet other people in the same situation at an informal group meeting next week.

The Call Group meets in Rugeley at St Michael's Church hall from 10am to 1pm on Monday, October 13.

It is open to any adults with caring responsibilities living within Southern Staffordshire. Other carers, professionals and volunteers will be there to share a chat over a cuppa, offering free confidential advice.

For more information, call Cynthia at CASS on 01785 222365.

Plans debated

CONTROVERSIAL plans for cancer and end-of-life care to be run by private companies will come under the spotlight today (Thursday). A full county council meeting will discuss the plans. A petition opposing the move containing 8,142 names has been handed in.

Pub serves overseas real ales in festival

BEER enthusiasts will be able to enjoy a range of 10 real ales from the UK and across the world during a 17-day festival in Cannock.

The overseas beers on offer at The Linford Arms in High Green have been sourced from brewers in New Zealand, the USA, Holland, Australia, Belgium and Italy. They will complement up to 30 beers from across the UK being served from October 17 to November 2.

All beers will be priced at £2.15 a pint.

Five of the international beers, and two of those from the UK, have been brewed by women.

The pub will serve new, seasonal and speciality beers, including those flavoured with ginger, heather and honey, toffee, herbs and spices and cinnamon and nutmeg.

Customers will be able to sample any three of the real ales in special third-of-a-pint glasses for the price of a pint. Tasting notes on all of the beers will be available.

Pub manager Andy Johnston said: "The festival will give people the opportunity to enjoy a superb selection of UK and international beers, many of which have not been served in the pub before."

Ben Wilby back for more Nativity fun

Cannock's Ben Wilby with Catherine Tate

HE has already rubbed shoulders with some of the biggest screen stars in Britain – now young Ben Wilby is preparing for the release of his latest film.

Doctors feared the 12-year-old, from Cannock, might never walk or talk again after life-saving brain surgery.

But he is now pursuing a successful acting career and reprises his role as Bob alongside Martin Clunes and Catherine Tate in Nativity 3, which is out in November. The premiere of the popular comedy movie's third instalment takes place in London next month. Nativity! was first released in 2009. Ben, who studies at the Sylvia Young Theatre School in London, has also just finished filming the video for the new Kasabian single Stevie, which involved him and a group of children running around woodland.

Ten years ago, he underwent a nine-hour operation at Birmingham Children's Hospital because the plates in his skull had not fused correctly after birth.

His family were told he may not even survive the procedure to relieve pressure on his brain caused by the condition called Craniostenosis. After starring in the original Nativity! film alongside Martin Freeman, he appeared in Nativity 2 with David Tennant.

His mother Jill said: "He absolutely loved making the film – he had a ball and he said Martin Clunes and Catherine Tate were so friendly. Things are going really well and he is having a great time."

Ben had hoped to meet up with Dr Stephen Dover, the surgeon who carried out the operation on him, earlier in the summer but his hectic filming schedule got in the way. He now hopes they can organise a date this month.

Colly spared driving ban to care for elderly mother

FORMER Aston Villa striker Stan Collymore has been spared a driving ban after pleading with magistrates that he needs his car to look after his elderly mother.

The football pundit, from Cannock, who has already clocked up 12 points for speeding, admitted driving his Porsche N1 SVC at 48mph in a 40mph zone on the M6.

But he escaped a ban after arguing he needed a vehicle to help him care for his elderly mother, who has been in poor health.

The 43-year-old told magistrates in Warrington he needs to travel across the country for work commitments including a show on radio station TalkSport and would struggle to get to his mother without a car.

His mother has lost an 'alarming' amount of weight in recent years and gets 'very anxious and frightened', he told the court.

Shops

Collymore said he does heavy lifting around the house, takes her to the shops and clears her driveway during bad weather.

He was caught speeding in the temporary 40mph limit of the M6 at Thelwall Viaduct, near Warrington, on April 19, this year.

Despite having already admitted three other speeding offences in the last six months, the ex-England international received only a £400 fine.

Collymore also argued it would impact on his capacity to work for TalkSport, and limit his charity work.

The striker scored 35 goals in 81 games for Liverpool after joining for a then British transfer record fee of £8.5m in 1995. He moved to Aston Villa for £7m in 1997.

Cheers to elderly fitness classes

Olive Hough, aged 74, Victoria Smith, 69, Noreen Jones, 78, Extend exercise Teacher Anne Mapley, Julie Britton, 67 and Brenda Taylor, 70, enjoy the cheerleading exercise class at Brereton and Ravenhill parish hall

WOMEN over 60 were encouraged to get active as part of Older People's Day. They were inspired to take part in cheerleading, hula hoops and exercise bands at a fitness class in Rugeley.

Older People's Day is an international event created to recognise and celebrate the achievements and contributions pensioners make to society.

Around half a dozen women took part in the Extend exercise class at Brereton and Ravenhill parish hall. Extend is a charity which provides training for exercise teacher for the over 60s and those less able.

Fitness instructor Anne Mapley has been running weekly exercise classes for six years.

The 60-year-old retired IT project manager, of Lichfield, said: "People well into their 70s and 80s take part in the classes. The eldest class member I've had was 102 in a residential home."

"It's about gentle exercise and movement. We cover all the major joints in the body and aerobic exercise. We use hoops, balls, exercise bands and cheerleading pom-poms. We do the cheerleading to Dancing Queen."

"They can do it sitting down or standing up. I usually get about 12 people along to a class."

The hour-long fitness classes take place on Wednesdays at 2pm.

She also runs a weekly session at Boley Park Community Hall, Lichfield, on Tuesdays from 2pm. Costs is £3 per session.

Young talent plea by business chief

A BUSINESS chief has called on the Government to 'build a pipeline of young talent' who will go on to become the next generation of business leaders and entrepreneurs.

Chris Plant, director of the Chase Chamber of Commerce in Cannock, said: "It is vital that we proactively build a pipeline of young talent who will go on to become the next generation of business leaders and entrepreneurs."

"Failure to do so could damage the UK's future growth prospects and risk a lost generation of young people."

Hospital campers ordered to leave

CAMPAGNERS from Support Stafford Hospital who set up a second protest camp have left the site after being served with legal powers.

A group of up to a half-a-dozen tents gathered outside University Hospital of North Staffordshire in Stoke last Friday morning.

Campaigners are upset that services are being transferred there from Stafford. They left the site the same evening after being told they must leave by Sunday.

PRIVATE Eric Hanham was shot by a sniper during the Battle of Neuve Chapelle in France in March, 1915.

However, the bullet was stopped by a small silver tobacco tin in his pocket, and Pte Hanham not only survived the conflict, but went on to serve in the Second World War too.

His tobacco tin, complete with German bullet, goes under the hammer in March and is expected to fetch £1,000. Proof positive that smoking is not always bad for you.

A PINT a day keeps the doctor away, according to the latest research from the University of Athens.

According to the latest research, moderate beer consumption can reduce the risk of heart attacks and strokes by 30 per cent. If it is true, it is brilliant news. There are few things more civilised than a pint of Black Country ale with a good meal at the end of the working day.

But I am only just getting used to last year's advice from the Department of Health, which recommended having at least two alcohol-free days each week.

So what is the answer? I suppose one could drink alcohol-free beer on the two dry days, giving the best of both worlds, although the disadvantage is that they often taste more like washing up liquid. An alternative theory is that nobody really knows what is good for us.

For many in the Black Country, Saturday trips to the Arcade Toyshop in Dudley have been a fundamental part of their childhood. Be it Chopper bikes, Meccano or the amazing glass cabinet where the Dinky cars revolved on electric shelves, it is ingrained in the memories of thousands of people.

Now, after almost half a century, the shop is set to close as a result of a council regeneration scheme. The facade where the shop is based is being returned to its original 1920s style, and owner Alan Caswell says the alterations to his shop are the 'final nail in the coffin'.

Mr Caswell, from Pattingham, is magnanimous, saying the changes are for the long-term good of the town. But really? How can anything which results in the loss of one of the most popular shops in an ailing town be anything other than a disaster?

The same mistakes are being repeated in towns and cities all over. While the shutters descend on an ever-increasing number of shops, local government seems convinced that all the ills of the high street can be solved with smart cast-iron street furniture and block paving.

You can have the most beautiful market place and the most elegantly revamped shopping arcade. But if there are no shops to draw people in, nobody will ever see them.

Terry Herbert, of Burntwood, who discovered the hoard

The complete Staffordshire Hoard collection on show

TV gold as new sitcom unearthed

Reporter KATY-ROSE MEANEY looks at the rise of a hobby that enthusiasts really dig – metal detecting

SEARCHING for hidden treasures has come under the spotlight thanks to the latest BBC sitcom to hit the TV screens.

Detectorists, which was first broadcast last Thursday (October 2) on BBC4, is written and directed by actor Mackenzie Crook, best known as Gareth from The Office.

The actor also takes one of the lead roles in the new sitcom which he penned after watching episodes of Time Team and having a half-hearted interest in the topic himself.

He said: "I've had a metal detector for years, I have all the equipment and the knowhow but I hardly ever used it.

"Over the years a Georgian shoe buckle and a musket ball are probably my best finds. They are not going to make the British Museum but it was exciting to unearth them nevertheless."

Buried

This is his first time directing a show, which is set in Framlingham in Suffolk. It follows two friends who share a passion for digging for gold and unearthing that one big find.

It appears a popular pastime across Staffordshire and the Black Country with local metal detecting clubs filled with members looking for buried treasure from years gone by.

Indeed, the largest collection of Anglo-Saxon gold and silver metalwork ever found, anywhere in the world – was discovered on our doorstep.

On July 5, 2009, in a field close to the village of Hammerwich, near Lichfield, an initial collection of 1,500 pieces were uncovered. It was found by metal detectorist Terry Herbert in a field belonging to farmer Fred Johnson. Experts have said the staggering discovery is unparalleled in size and may have belonged to Saxon royalty.

The Office star Mackenzie Crook wrote and appears in Detectorists

Known as The Staffordshire Hoard, it was discovered near Watling Street, one of the major thoroughfares of Roman Britain, which ran for about 250 miles from Dover and was probably still in use when the hoard was buried.

Today, the hoard totals 5.094 kilos of gold, 1.442 kilos of silver and 3,500 cloisonné garnets. The treasure is almost exclusively war gear, with an extraordinary quantity of pommel caps and hilt plates.

The artefacts date back to the 7th or 8th centuries, placing the origin of the items in the time of the Kingdom of Mercia.

The first pieces of The Staffordshire Hoard were found by Mr Herbert, from Burntwood as he searched with his trusty 14-year-old detector.

He reported his find to the Portable Antiquities Scheme based at Birmingham Museums & Art Gallery, as required by the Treasure Act 1996.

The find was so important, English Heritage and Staffordshire County Council funded an archaeological excavation. This was carried out between 24 July and 21 August by Birmingham Archaeology.

Following the excavation Mr Herbert found a few more pieces, but a final search of the site that September, by a specialist police remote sensing team, found nothing else on site, suggesting the entire hoard has been recovered.

Enthusiast Kevin Blackburn, 58, from Stramshall near Uttoxeter, has sold metal detectors for 14 years and says he has never been busier.

Mr Blackburn owns Staffordshire Metal Detectors, an online business selling new and second hand detectors, headphones and books.

He also offers help to beginners and has his own claim to fame in the metal detecting world.

In June 2003, he unearthed the Staffordshire Moorlands Patera, a find that astonished experts.

Preserved

The discovery of a unique bronze bowl was hailed the most significant Roman find until The Staffordshire Hoard was discovered six years later.

The vessel was so well preserved he was able to wipe off the dirt without risk of damage and said he knew at once that it was a second century Roman bowl.

The find is described by Ralph Jackson, Curator of Romano-British Collections at British Museum as a patera, 'a handled pan rather like a small saucepan'.

Its base and handle were made separately and soldered on but both are now missing.

The discovery, worth £100,000, is notable for the fine preservation of so much of its enamel inlay and for the large number of colours used – blue, red, turquoise, yellow and, possibly, purple.

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

THE Tory conference was supposed to be the chance to unite the party against a common foe before the next General Election.

Unfortunately for David Cameron, the Birmingham gathering exposed what everyone knows – the Tories are fighting on too many fronts.

Defections to UKIP overshadowed proceedings every day. Even the Sunday Telegraph, usually sympathetic to the Conservatives, led with the headline Tory Crisis as delegates started their four-day event.

The defections of Mark Reckless and former London deputy mayor Richard Barnes were embarrassing as was William Cash joining UKIP.

Mr Cash is the son of ardent Eurosceptic Tory MP Sir Bill Cash, who represents Stone.

Sir Bill described his son's actions as a 'monumental misjudgement', saying that it is only the Tories that can deliver a referendum on Europe.

It's frustrating for him given how much he's had to endure within his own party as he tried to get the leadership to take the issue seriously – something it is now doing as it promises a referendum if the Tories win a majority.

The problem for Sir Bill and for the Conservatives is that Europe is no longer the only thing that is seeing people want to move to the 'kippers'. The younger Mr Cash is miffed at planning policies he says damage tourism and heritage and was unimpressed by David Cameron's decision to drop Owen Paterson as Environment Secretary.

There was some relief for the Conservatives as UKIP's group leader on Dudley Council resigned from the party. But Ken Turner and his wife Hazel are not planning a return to the Tory fold, having left the Conservatives last year.

Michael Fabricant, the outspoken Lichfield MP looks forward to some form of a reconciliation between the Tories and their UKIP 'cousins'.

Nigel Farage might think his tanks are parked on Labour's lawn, but with all the Tory defections it is starting to look more than ever like an alternative to the Conservatives rather than to the others. That's only going to strengthen Labour's chances.

ONE of the surprising things about the Tory conference was how remarkably upbeat it was. The opinion polls point to a Labour victory, despite Ed Miliband forgetting to mention the deficit in his own conference speech.

There was the embarrassment of minister Brooks Newmark resigning after sending a picture of his bits to a journalist, posing as a party aide.

But one MP who certainly had a spring in his step was South Staffordshire's Gavin Williamson. He's been named in the top 100 people 'on the right'. Not even the former PM Sir John Major makes the list anymore.

New designer village plans go on display

The revised image of Mill Green Designer Village off Lichfield Road in Cannock

REVISED plans for a multi-million pound designer outlet village in Cannock will see a new-look heritage trail created nearby.

There will also be better pedestrian crossings to the proposed 307,000sq ft retail and leisure complex at Mill Green. A planned cinema will be moved to the first floor, allowing room for a space at ground level for people to eat, drink and socialise.

A 2,000 space car park is also included in the proposals.

The changes have been made following consultation earlier this year.

It would become the biggest shopping complex of its kind in the Midlands if approved. Residents can now have their say on the revised plans, which will bring more than 130 stores and create up to 800 jobs.

Updated

This new image has been released as the updated plans are due to be unveiled to the public for the first time. They will go on display at South Staffordshire College's Cannock campus in The Green tomorrow (Friday) from 2-7pm and on Saturday between 9am and 1pm. Giles Membrey, managing director of the developers Rioja Developments, said an application was due to be submitted in the coming weeks.

"We are delighted to be in a position to display our plans and show how they have progressed as a result of public consultation and I would once again like to thank local people for all their feedback," he said.

The outlet village, off Lichfield Road, could open by the end of 2017 and feature big names stores such as Superdry, Paul Smith and Ralph Lauren.

Minimum pay needs to go up

I, AND others, have struggled and begged our way to a pound or two above minimum wage over the years and now find ourselves creeping back towards it through no fault of our own. If it goes up again I may as well get a school leavers type job even though I'm 50 this year, as I work very hard for very little more than minimum wage at the moment. While I agree that the minimum wage needs to go up, I would like to see a move that means everyone has to have their wages increased by the same amount when it does. It's demoralising for those of on poor wages to have, what in effect, is a pay cut. AMANDA, Cannock

I AM writing to call on Cannock & Rugeley Chronicle readers to help Marie Curie Cancer Care set up a new volunteer fundraising group for the Cannock area. Fundraising groups make an enormous difference locally by helping to raise the vital funds we need so that Marie Curie nurses can continue to provide free care to people with terminal illnesses in their own homes. Wages rise is a step in the right direction

AN increase to the National Minimum Wage, which came in to effect this week, is a welcome boost for low income workers who are struggling to make ends meet. This above-inflation rise is a positive step towards easing the immense pressure on household budgets. We want to make sure anyone struggling on a low income is aware of all the support available to them at www.turn2us.org.uk ALISON TAYLOR, Director Turn2us, London W6 7NL

Setting the record straight on letter

ON October 2, we published a letter concerning Aidan Burley MP from a correspondent under the name of 'Helen of Hednesford'. Mr Burley has pointed out a number of inaccuracies in that letter. The same letter also alleged that Conservative parliamentary candidate Amanda Milling lives in Lancashire. This too is inaccurate, as she moved to a home in Rugeley in August. We apologise for these errors. THE EDITOR, Cannock Chronicle

Political opportunism

ARE UKIP and Conservative the same? Some 30 per cent of Conservatives when asked in a poll said they should join with UKIP to form the next government. Locally, correct me if I'm wrong, they were all elected as Conservative councillors before changing to UKIP. Political opportunism springs to mind. COUNCILLOR GORDON BALL Hednesford South Ward

Give a bit of respect to cyclists

RE: The person who complained in the Chronicle on September 25 with regard to cyclists on the pavement by the Mill Farm. I do understand his concern as the cyclist was wearing earphones and was not wearing a helmet. But to state he should not use the pavement concerns me. As well as being a driver I often go out cycling and on certain roads like Lichfield Road I will ride on the pavement as drivers tend to take little or no notice of the cyclist and pass them exceptionally close, which can cause a cyclist to fall off. I will not ride with headphones but also I do not wear a helmet as I find them uncomfortable and if unfortunately if the cyclist is involved in a major accident the helmet would give little or no protection. All I ask is that other road users give cyclists respect and then maybe we can ride on the roads more safely. JOHN G MOORE Heath Hayes

Best news for ages

AFTER reading in The Chronicle (September 25) that there appear to be now "concerns" over the new Mill Green designer retail outlet development, can I just say what everyone I speak to about it thinks? It is the best news we've had for a long time. I don't need a good standard hotel or a spa - and I think the pubs and restaurants we have serve enough meals for me. What I would like is a bigger selection of stores which will offer me more choice. It won't stop me from going to Cannock when I need to, shoppers today don't shop in one place anymore. I actually think Mill Green will bring people in. DIANE FREEMAN, Great Wyrley

Food festival thanks

I WOULD like to thank everyone that was involved in the first Chadsmoor Food Festival on Saturday, September 27. Chadsmoor food establishments gave residents a taste of their culinary cuisine. There was street entertainment with bands and an excellent fire show. Thanks to Chadsmoor Community Trust, Jon Keeling and his family, the restaurants, local businesses, the Flaggin' Duck and to everyone that came along. This was an excellent community event and I am sure, will now grow from strength to strength. JANOS TOTH, Labour Parliamentary Candidate Cannock Chase

Praise for wonderful show

MAY I say, through your letters page, how much we enjoyed 'Me and My Girl' at the Prince of Wales Centre? You were all stars, it was wonderful. Thank you for making us laugh. MRS AND MRS STOKES, Chasetown

All downhill from here as Kieran skis to double

A SCHOOLBOY'S talents on the slopes have earned him the coveted title of both under-10s Indoor and Outdoor Great British Ski Champion.

Kieran Woolley, aged nine, came out on top in the recent Welsh and separate Great British Ski Championships which started in March and finished in August.

The St Peter's Primary School pupil only competed on the slopes for the first time just over 12 months ago.

His mother Sally said the whole family was extremely proud of young Kieran after he scooped the outdoor and separate indoor titles.

She said: "Kieran has always skied since the age of four but that was only on family holidays, nothing serious or in any competitions."

"The first time he competed was last June in Tamworth at a fun competition. He was up against much older kids. He came second in that and ever since he's just fallen in love with it."

"He loves the speed and the courses he skis down are really quick."

He now practises at The Ackers in Birmingham and the Tamworth Snow-Dome four times a week for two hours at a time, meaning he hits the slopes eight hours a week.

Mrs Woolley, aged 39, said: "The courses can be quite technical. He is very good with memorising the routes."

Kieran in action

Hednesford pupil Kieran Woolley is an indoor and outdoor ski champion

The skiers get one practice go on the course and then they have to tackle it for real.

"We have had to take him all over the UK competing."

Slopes

In the Great British series, Kieran had to compete in Manchester, Scotland and Leeds on both dry and wet slopes. To win the title he had to race on the slopes and try to finish in the quickest time. There are six races in each series and the youngsters are placed in a league. By the end of the six races, whoever comes out top is deemed the champion.

Kieran goes to Borneo in Italy in February and then to France in March to compete in the Great British Championships.

Mrs Woolley added: "He is very dedicated."

"His dream is to compete in the Winter Olympics. We're so proud of him."

Cloudy2Clear Windows
- Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done."

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated." So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

10 In fine voice to aid Legion

The Chronicle Thursday, October 9, 2014

THREE choirs combined to raise more than £700 for the Royal British Legion.

Cannock Ex-Servicemen's Male Voice Choir, Chase Choral Society and Inspiration, St Stephen's Gospel Choir combined for a concert to commemorate First World War soldiers. Soloist Diane Gunn also performed.

St Stephen's Church, Bideford Way, Cannock, was the venue for the musical event, which raised £703.82 and was also staged as a farewell concert for Chase Choral Society MD Derek Bailey after 35 years.

Representatives later returned to the venue to hand over a cheque to Short Heath Royal British Legion branch chairman Frank Greenwood.

Dorothy Bates, Ex-Servicemen's Choir MD, who helped to organise the event, said: "It was a splendid evening. We were well supported by kitchen staff and staff from the church itself."

Agency staff paid up to £1,900 a day

AGENCY workers are being paid up to £1,900 a shift because no one wants Stafford Hospital on their CV, health chiefs say.

David Loughton, chief executive of New Cross Hospital in Wolverhampton, which is taking over Cannock Hospital, said some agency consultants received up to £1,900 a day. Other agency workers such as doctors and nurses are getting up to three times the normal rate.

Mr Loughton said: "A day rate of £1,900 for a consultant is not unusual. Nobody wants to work at Stafford, the reputation is legendary. No one wants Stafford on their CV."

The costs were revealed during a meeting between Mr Loughton and Mark Hackett, chief executive at the University Hospital of North Staffordshire in Stoke, with members of Staffordshire County Council's health scrutiny committee.

The Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust chief executive Maggie Oldham said: "Temporary staff play a vital part in maintaining safe services and help us meet peaks in workload and cover vacancies and staff absence. We have a number of services that are short staffed and these trained doctors and nurses help fill gaps."

"Unfortunately we do have to pay premium rates for some staff particularly where we have short notice gaps. We are working with University Hospital of North Staffordshire and The Royal Wolverhampton Trust to recruit more staff so we have less reliance on temporary workers."

Coffee time to raise cash for wildlife

NATURE lovers can enjoy a cup of tea or coffee to help raise money for charity.

Staffordshire Wildlife Trust is hosting a fundraising coffee morning tomorrow (Friday), from 10am to noon at its Wolsley Centre base near Rugeley. Entry is £1, including a drink.

Visitors can also treat themselves to home made cakes and jams, as well as plants and second hand books.

Sam Pachner, conference and events officer at the trust, said: "This is the perfect way for people of all ages to help local wildlife."

Motorists urged to steer clear of deer

Countryside Ranger Rob Davies puts up a sign to warn motorists about deer crossing the road

COUNTRYSIDE rangers have launched a safety drive aimed at protecting deer during the mating season.

They say there are more than 350 deer across Chase-water Country Park and Cannock Chase and during the rutting season and fear are likely to dash across roads to reach their mating partners.

Rangers want drivers to slow down and have put up three large signs on roadsides through the beauty spots. Temporary signs are also being put up on lampposts.

Ranger Robert Davies said: "We are trying to get the message out there for people to be vigilant."

"During the rutting season the deer only have one thing on their mind and they are likely to run out in front of cars."

"We have had problems before when deer have been killed in these situations so we want to do everything we can to stop it happening."

"If people just drive a bit slower then they will see them in good time. There are some fast roads through the countryside so it can be dangerous."

25 homes lose power as cables come down

HOMES in Cannock lost power for more than three hours after power lines fell during bad weather.

Engineers from Western Power Distribution were called out to Sandy Lane, Shoal Hill, by residents at around 9.15am on Monday.

Police were also called and the road was closed off to traffic for around an hour while the lines were restored.

It came after heavy rain blighted the region during the morning.

Receptionist Wendy Emery, who lives in Sandy Lane, was getting ready for work when the power lines fell.

She said: "Suddenly the lights started flickering and the radio was crackling. The dog also started barking."

Swinging

"Then I heard a loud bang and when I went outside two huge cables were swinging at the end of my drive."

"I called Western Power Distribution and they came out within 20 minutes."

Western Power Distribution spokesman Stella Hayward said engineers worked to restore power as soon as possible. She said more than two dozen properties were affected.

Cable repairs take place

The spokesman added: "The wind had blown the lines down. Twenty-five homes lost power."

"Our engineers fixed the problem and all homes had power again by 12.35pm."

Fascinating insight into sport of kings

Ladies are given taste of vineyard

GUESTS enjoyed "The fascinating world of horse racing" in an event organised by the Rotary Club of Bretby.

Everyone present enjoyed a summer buffet and strawberry cream tea held at Dunstall Old Hall by kind permission of Mr and Mrs Simon Clarke to raise funds for Rotary charities.

Not only was the grey chaser Nacarot present, owned by Mr and Mrs Clarke, but guest of honour was Lord Gyllene the 1997 Grand National winner. The show of racing horses was accompanied by a commentary by a leading racehorse trainer.

For the second time in less than 18 months Lichfield Rotary Club handed over a donation to the Donna Louise Hospice Trust. The hospice is the only one in Staffordshire that offers admission to children who are suffering from severe illnesses.

Lichfield Rotary Club

A cheque for £1,000 was handed over to hospice representative Lisa Courtney, to add to the £6,000 already raised from the club's Cakes and Ale Walk.

The cheque was presented by Richard Davis an Associate member of the Rotary Club who organised a sponsored 45-mile Four Inns walk over the Peak District.

Club marks coming of age

CANNOCK & District Ladies Probud 21st birthday lunch was held at The Chase Golf Club on Thursday, October 2.

President Betty welcomed all members and guests and Joyce Cox said Grace.

After a superb meal, guest speaker Cas Bailey was introduced by Barbara Matthews. She ensured plenty of laughs with her talk 'Handcuffs to glass blowing'. The vote of thanks was given by Kay Matthews.

CANNOCK & DISTRICT LADIES PROBUS CLUB

Betty inducted two new members Kathryn Small and Lyn Harbrow. The club welcomes new members and visitors over the age of 50 who have retired or semi-retired.

Meetings are held at the Chase Golf Club, Pottal Pool, Penkridge for lunch followed by a talk or demonstration by an invited speaker. For more information call 01543 505107.

The vineyard, a family business, was planted in early 1991 on land adjacent to the Roman city of Uricinium (Wroxeter).

The land on which the vineyard stands is part of a small holding, Glebe Farm, and has been in the family for more than 60 years, some five generations have farmed the land.

The idea of a vineyard was conceived in the late 1980s after farmer's son David Millington visited California.

The present site of the vineyard was found to be suitable because it is a level site, well sheltered and has very free draining soils.

Vine growing and wine making author Gillian Pearkes was contacted for advice. In 1991, she suggested varieties to plant and the vineyard's first vintage was produced in late 1992.

A short wine tasting was undertaken and all agreed that the wines were lovely. This led to a little spending in the adjacent shop.

Chasewater clean-up leaves pool a bare pit

Park ranger Rob Taylor works on the clean-up operation at the Chasewater pool

THE pool at Chasewater Country Park – so long a feature at the beauty spot – has been drained of water for a painstaking cleaning operation.

For decades it has been a tranquil scene where families gather to feed the ducks. However, 236,740 gallons of water have been pumped out over 10 days and taken to grassland nearby. Contractors are working to clean the concrete structure, which was originally built for paddle boats but has recently become known as the 'duck pool'. The clean-up operation will take weeks.

The water had become polluted by dirt and grime from the birds over the years – and was so polluted that it could not be drained back into the water course on the site.

Debris

Park ranger Robert Taylor says the clean-up is progressing well.

He said: "We get mallards, ducks, Canada geese and swans but the water becomes very dirty over time due to the faeces and debris. People come and feed the ducks too and the water just becomes stagnant.

"As it is a man-made pool the dirt just tends to sit there so we had to pump the water out to clean it properly."

Mr Taylor said it was important for the site's future that the pool was managed properly.

The park is in line for a major overhaul under owners Staffordshire County Council, with plans being drawn up that could include making it a venue for water-skiing, sailing, windsurfing, wakeboarding, triathlon and BMX biking.

Landmark pub set to reopen after makeover

By Katy-Rose Meaney

A LANDMARK Cannock pub has undergone a major refurbishment two months after a car ploughed into the side of the building.

External brickwork has been repaired after the red Mazda ended up embedded in the toilet block of the popular Longford House Beefeater pub on Monday, August 4.

The pub was able to open 48 hours later but work has been continuing on the walls and the toilets ever since.

A full makeover has since taken place and the pub is set to reopen following the transformation tomorrow (Friday).

Spokesman Doug McPherson said: "Throughout the building works the dedicated team have kept the restaurant open, with minimum disruption to our guests, and we are delighted that works are now complete."

Damage

"Thankfully there was no structural damage, purely cosmetic, which is why the restaurant was able to re-open at full function only 48 hours following the incident."

"Of course, if there had been further damage for health and safety reasons the restaurant would have closed."

"As a Georgian building, the walls needed a touch up, however no structural damage was incurred."

He added: "We are now in the process of refurbishing the whole restaurant, including furniture, menu and new team training."

"All the refurbishments aim to change the feel of the restaurant. However structurally, the building remains the same in general. We are

The driver, a man in his 30s, suffered serious leg injuries and was 'lucky to be alive' according to emergency crews who attended the smash at Longford island on the A5 just after 1.30am. The car was embedded in the building and the driver was trapped for 90 minutes.

Fire crews had to cut the roof off the car to free the motorist who was taken to University Hospital of North Staffordshire Major Trauma Unit.

Walk to school month

THOUSANDS of schoolchildren from across Staffordshire will be putting on their walking shoes this month. Pupils and parents are being encouraged to take part in International Walk to School Month throughout October in a bid to encourage more people to walk to school and promote healthy lifestyles.

County council transport member Councillor Mark Deaville said: "Staffordshire is a shining example when it comes to encouraging more parents to walk to school and our work to make our roads as safe as possible is paying off."

New HS2 route is welcomed by Tory MP

CONSERVATIVE MP Michael Fabricant has welcomed plans for HS2 to tunnel beneath the A38 in Staffordshire.

The line will no longer pass through a viaduct in Lichfield, but will instead go under the A38 and West Coast Mainline. Lichfield MP Mr Fabricant said the new plans were a 'major environmental victory'.

He said: "I recognise that most people would want the whole route of HS2 changed so it didn't go through Staffordshire at all, or indeed the whole project cancelled, but if it's going to go ahead substantially along the route proposed then this is the best possible outcome."

The height of the line around the A38 will also be reduced, while more changes to the high speed line are expected to be revealed by HS2 Ltd chairman Sir David Higgins.

Efforts

He will unveil his vision for the entire £50bn project when he presents a new report this month.

County transport boss Mark Winnington said: "Although we are opposed to HS2, from the outset we have put all our efforts into getting the best deal we can for Staffordshire and its people."

"We are pleased the Staffordshire voice has been heard and these new proposals will help protect the Lichfield skyline, limit extensive, intrusive construction and significantly reduce noise."

"While this is great news, we recognise too the importance of exploring further mitigating options with HS2 and supporting communities affected by the national transport scheme."

In his report this month,

By Rob Gollidge

Sir David is expected to reinforce his commitment to bringing forward construction through Staffordshire forward by six years and making the whole line to Manchester and Leeds operational by 2030 - three years earlier than planned.

He is also expected to confirm Crewe will be chosen over Stoke-on-Trent as a major 'hub' station connecting the north.

A key revelation will be whether he decides a link between HS2 and the West Coast Main Line at Lichfield is needed.

If not, it will cut off any link between the high speed rail line and Stafford but spare residents living between Lichfield and Rugeley where a nine-mile spur linking to the West Coast Main Line is proposed to be built at Handsacre.

In March, Sir David proposed speeding up development so the line from London to Crewe was completed by 2027 - some six years earlier than planned.

If approved, that would mean work would start earlier along a 45-mile swathe of rural Staffordshire.

Crewe is expected to be a major interchange for passengers travelling from the south and the Midlands connecting to services to the north.

400 posts at risk as youth clubs to close

YOUTH clubs across Staffordshire will shut by the end of the year despite a campaign which included a 16,000 petition.

The county council will stop running the 34 clubs on December 31, with 400 youth service posts at risk.

Staff have been informed that direct provision will finish by 2015. A union boss says it will be a "sad day".

Council chiefs need to save £102 million over the next five years and say three-quarters of young people in Staffordshire do not attend traditional council-run youth centres.

The Staffordshire Voluntary Council of Youth

Services are now working with youth clubs and communities to promote other options. Funding of around £50,000 is poised to be allocated to districts.

Mark Sutton, cabinet support member for social and health care, said: "There is a range of funding available to support community activities, as well as a new fund specifically to support the setting-up of activities where people want or need them."

Unison branch secretary Steve Elsey said: "This is a sad day, especially for our young people who have made many pleas for services to continue."

A VISIT by Countryfile presenter John Craven to South Staffordshire College has been hailed a success.

The TV host spoke to students on a rural enterprise course at the Rodbaston Campus in Penkridge.

It was part of a visit that also included the Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's Wolseley Centre HQ and a talk at the Staffordshire County Showground.

The former Newsround presenter session with learners at the 19th century Rodbaston Hall.

Rural Enterprise Academy principal, accompanied by sixth formers Jemma Stanaway and Asa Crinnian, gave Mr Craven a tour of the facilities, where he also met many of the staff.

Tour

Chris Murphy, head lecturer in horticulture, met Mr Craven as he was running a tree identification course with his students in the grounds.

An introduction to Gillie, the college's prize bull, was followed by a tour of the 'aquaculture' area with centre manager Simon Marvin, who explained how the commercial fish hatchery has provided five million ornamental freshwater fish to firms across the country.

Paying tribute, college deputy principal Rob Boucherat said: "He is obviously a natural as a presenter."

"And his positive view about the rural economy and its appeal to young learners will have been hugely motivating for our students."

"We are delighted that he was able to visit both the college and the academy and there is no doubt his long and successful career will help to inspire our students."

Workplace experience is enjoyed

YOUNG people have enjoyed work experience at Hednesford's Co-Operative Food store as part of a Government backed initiative.

The 'Feeding Britain's Future' campaign aims to provide employability skills training for young people.

Delivered as part of the Midlands Co-Operative Society's relationship with the grocery research and training charity, IGD, candidates gain hands-on experience of the food industry during a total of six days.

Hednesford and 28 other branches participated. Hednesford store manager Emily Walker said: "It was great to offer work experience to young people and we were impressed with their enthusiasm and application to the tasks we gave to them."

Book launch at museum

A BOOK on the First World War is being launched at the Museum of Cannock Chase next month.

Author Christopher John will sign copies of 'A Hundred Years On' on November 6 from 2-4pm in Valley Road, Hednesford, and give two lectures.

Tickets are £1. Call 01543 877666 or e-mail museumofcannockchase@wlct.org

Fundraisers sport fancy dress in Thomas tribute

Children eye up play area plans

YOUNG people quizzed the companies hoping to deliver new play areas as part of improvements to Hednesford Park.

Two new play areas will be built and will be sited next to a refurbished pavilion. Schoolchildren cast their expert eyes over the company's play area designs and grilled representatives following a presentation on their ideas.

Councillor Christine Mitchell, culture and sport leader, said: "Right from the start we have tried to involve young people from Hednesford in our plans."

"They're the ones who are going to be using the new play areas, so it's really important that they are happy with what's planned."

The installation of the new play areas will start next spring.

Children look at the plans for the play areas at Hednesford Park

FRIENDS and family donned fancy dress to raise more than £1,300 in memory of a talented teenage footballer.

Around 100 people attended the sport-themed party at Bar Sport in Cannock to remember Thomas Smith, of Hednesford, who died of meningitis on his 13th birthday while on a family holiday in Wales.

The sporty soiree for Meningitis Now featured entertainment including a disco, raffle, auction and refreshments.

Organiser, Thomas' aunt Joy Smith, asked people to wear sports costumes, which included two girls as the 118 guys, boxers and cheerleaders, while Thomas' friends wore tops emblazoned with his name.

Emotional

The raffle and auction, with items including a week-long Spanish holiday, Ricky Hatton-signed boxing glove, meal vouchers, hampers, £50 tattoo voucher and hair products, added to the amount raised.

Joy, aged 41, of Hednesford, said: "It was a fun, emotional night, and lovely to see Thomas' friends and family unite to celebrate him. Everyone had a fabulous time, people were really creative with their fancy dress - it was a colourful way to remember such a special boy."

The Kingsmead pupil was a popular player with Chasetown Scholars. Mother Emma said: "His departure has had an enormous impact on everyone who knew him. We're proud of his achievements and want to keep happy memories of Thomas in everyone's thoughts - forever."

Vandals will not win says business owner

Owner Jen Austin at her business, Shire Oak Signs and Graphics, off Lime Lane, Pelsall, which was broken into. THIEVES stole £10,000 of equipment and left a trail of destruction after smashing into a sign-making business.

Two men were seen on CCTV loading some of the printing machines from Shire Oak Signs and Graphics, in Lime Lane, Pelsall, into the back of a Vauxhall Astra.

The firm's owner, Jen Austin of Burntwood, has vowed she will not be defeated by the vandals. The 40-year-old mother-of-two has run the business on the Yates Industrial Estate for four years and has been looking to expand.

She faces around two years of building her business back to the level it was, and is appealing for anyone who knows the thieves to come forward.

They struck at around 7.30pm on Wednesday, October 1 after smashing a padlock to get into the industrial estate and then broke two locks to get into the premises.

Anyone with information can call Staffordshire Police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0300 555 111.

Man who killed wife then took own life

A MOTHER-of-three was stabbed to death by her estranged husband after she started a new relationship. He then killed himself, an inquest heard.

David Stringer, 32, took a carving knife from his father's house before killing Hayley, aged 29, his wife of 10 years, at their marital home in Bloxwich on May 10. The couple's children were asleep upstairs at the time.

The inquest in Smethwick heard he then committed suicide by stabbing himself with the same kitchen knife.

The inquest heard that around the same time as they split up, in March, Hayley started a relationship with 19-year-old Matthew Read, a work colleague at Gestamp Autmacion in Cannock.

Knives

He discovered their bodies when he arrived at Mrs Stringer's home in Holmeadow Avenue after cycling from his night shift.

DC David Brindley, of West Midlands Police homicide unit, said David Stringer had been staying with his father in Bloxwich and that officers recovered a set of knives from the property which had one missing

By Marion Brennan

– that matched the weapon found at the scene. He said mobile phone evidence revealed that threats were made against Mr Read and that David Stringer threatened to kill himself but no complaints were ever made to the police.

Post mortems found that Hayley Stringer died of multiple stab wounds while her husband's death was caused by a single stab wound.

Pathologist Dr Nick Hunt said minor injuries around the fatal wound suggested he did commit suicide.

Black Country coroner Zafar Siddique said he was satisfied Mr Stringer, a warehouseman, had taken his own life after killing his estranged wife.

Riders pay respects to Armed Forces

THOUSANDS of motorcyclists showed their support for the Armed Forces by riding to the National Memorial Arboretum.

More than 6,000 bikers took part in the annual Ride to the Wall. Saturday's event (October 4) included a dedicated service of remembrance in Alrewas, as well as pipers, a performance by the Military Wives Choir, wreath laying and addresses from leading members of Ride to the Wall.

Wolseley Bridge near Rugeley was one of 11 official starting points for the seventh annual pilgrimage. It raises funds for the National Memorial Arboretum and provides a permanent home to the striking Armed Forces Memorial. So far more than £218,000 has been raised.

Susan Starkey, aged 64, from Burntwood, was one of almost 200 riders who travelled from Wolseley Bridge. She said: "It is so, so emotional."

Response times double

THE length of time Staffordshire Police takes to respond to non-emergency calls has almost doubled in the last year, it has been revealed.

Staffing problems and workers moving into a £1 million new control room have been given as the reasons by the force.

In a report to Police & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis it says staff are now dealing with calls from police headquarters in Stafford, rather than being spread across that site and Hanley police station.

Response times have risen from 60 seconds in February to 113 seconds in July. The number of calls had gone up from 25,000 to 36,000 in that time.

Some 19 staff from Hanley have not moved to Stafford and 22 call-handlers are to return to front-line policing.

It leaves 146 staff working at the call centre. But bosses say 19 new staff will be taken on and insist performance will improve over the next six months.

Acting Chief Constable Jane Sawyers said: "We did have two control rooms, one at Hanley and one at headquarters. They have both closed and we have a bigger, purpose-built control room at headquarters."

"A lot of staff have transferred from Hanley but some didn't want to go to Stafford."

"There are also now very few police officers working in the control room."

"We want to get the extra staff in by early next year but, because of training, we can't get them all in at once."

Loosen your belt at comfort table

REVIEWS BOOKS

by Leon Burakowski

WITH frosty mornings, rainy days and darker nights ahead, you can be forgiven resorting to comfort food to cheer yourself up.

Here's Jamie Oliver with a little of what you fancy, 100 recipes for dishes best summed up by one word — scrumptious.

Jamie's Comfort Food (hardback, Michael Joseph, £30 but widely available for less), goes full steam ahead for the kind of food guaranteed to put a smile on your face. Chapter headings include Nostalgia, Guilty Pleasures and Sweet Indulgence.

This handsomely illustrated and weighty companion to his latest TV series deserves to be a kitchen fixture with such dishes as his version of Beef Wellington and the awesome Insanity Burger. He even finds something new to do with a toasted cheese sandwich, giving it a crispy cheese crown.

There also lesser known treats, such as Ghanaian Groundnut Stew and Polish favourite Pierogi (savoury dumplings), and those with a sweet tooth are catered for with Jamaican Ginger Cake, Jamie's Amazing Apple Pie and the decorative Hummingbird Cake, among others. There's also plenty of nutritional information at the back.

Gino D'Acampo recently returned to our screens with his second series travelling around his homeland of Italy to present his twist on the regional dishes he encountered. Gino's Italian Escape: A Taste of the Sun (hardback, Hodder, £20) features over 100 recipes from northern Italy — Florence, Bologna, Parma and Venice.

This is meat and rice country but

Jamie's dishes to banish the blues pasta, pizza and fish dishes also feature. The affable Gino keeps it simple and simply delicious with such dishes as Crispy Chicken baked with Lemon and Fennel or the Aubergine, Tomato and Mozzarella Stack.

He also introduces his take on Cicchetti, the Venetian equivalent to Spanish Tapas.

As for desserts, the This Morning cook from Naples surpasses himself with Apples poached in red wine with Amaretto biscuit cream; Lady's Kisses, which are almond biscuits with Nutella chocolate spread; and Polenta cake with oranges and Cointreau.

Vegetarians are well catered for with two excellent new cook books that prove that veggie dishes can be exciting. Guardian Weekend veggie food writer Yotam Ottolenghi could even tempt carnivores with the vibrant dishes in Plenty More (hardback, Ebury Press, £27). The follow up to his hit recipe collection Plenty, sees the columnist firmly move the vegetables from the side dish to the main plate. Favourites include his unctuous fig salad, his poached eggs with aubergine, fried potatoes and spicy tomato, and baked orzo pasta with mozzarella and oregano.

Indian cuisine is one of the finest for vegetarian dishes and a fascinating world of spice awaits within Curry Easy Vegetarian (hardback, Ebury Press, £26) by queen of curry Madhur Jaffrey. The 200 dishes range from simple lemon rice and potato patties to stuffed sooji crepes and egg curries.

Poet shows pupils the write way

Year 5 Chase View Primary School pupils with visiting poet Andy Tooze after writing their poems

A PROFESSIONAL poet called in at a Rugeley school to celebrate national Poetry Day. Andy Tooze, known as 'The Poet from the Peaks' has written 12 children's poetry books and came in to share his work with the children from Chase View Primary.

During assembly, Mr Tooze read extracts from his collection which included subjects such as a school trip, features of the human body a selection of '20 word poems' and the title work from his latest book entitled 'Don't Diss dancing Dads'. He then spent time in each class from the nursery through to Year 6.

Following his session with the Year 5 pupils, Mr Tooze challenged the class to create their own poem about a part of their body in just 10 minutes. He declared The Brain by Rhys Williams, Hearts by Natasha Birks and Arms by Louis Cox as the champions.

Hunt aids jockey fund

A HUNT in Penkridge raised more than £500 for the Injured Jockeys Fund.

Hounds from the Burne Bloodhounds group set out to find runners with members of the group following close behind on horseback.

The event was held at Lower Drayton Farm with hotly-tipped Rugeley apprentice jockey Jack Duern among the guests.

Volunteers from the group were given a 25 minute head start to jog into the woods before the hounds tracked them down using just their nose for human scent.

When they found their target they were given a big fuss and a minute to relax.

Mark Gilbert, hunt master for Burne Bloodhounds, said: "The hounds are people loving animals."

"They tracked down our volunteers impressively and deserved their well earned rest."

Mr Gilbert said: "It is great to have jockeys like Jack here because they are the reason we put the event on.

The Injured Jockeys Fund does such a fantastic job for what we call sporting jockeys, who have to work very hard, do a lot of travelling and put themselves in dangerous situations during each race, for little in terms of money.

"The fund helps them and their families recover from hard times or if they can't go back to racing, teach them new trades."

The event was the first hunt of its kind organised by Burne Bloodhounds, who aim to return next year.

Gilpin's employees on the rubble of the demolition of Gilpin's Stack in 1933

Front cover of John Devey's new publication

Turning the pages of village's older brother

BRIDGTOWN & District Local History Society was founded in 2009 and since that time it has produced four books about the village and its neighbouring communities.

Churchbridge is one such neighbour, sitting as it does, beyond the two railway bridges.

The Society's fifth book, written by John Devey, is about that "older brother". It will be launched at the society's latest exhibition on Sunday, October 19 at Bridgtown Social Club in Walsall Road.

Churchbridge was a farming community that occupied a small area of land to the north of Great Wyrley.

This rural agricultural site was destined to live through times of dramatic change, starting with the arrival of Mr Gilpin's Edge Tool Factory in the early 1800s. This brought with it people and a need for housing, the area gradually industrialised with railways and canals appearing on the scene.

The provision of more jobs that utilised the power generated by local coal produced tools and equipment for all types of industry. These changes ultimately led to the building of a "new town" in the locality and that development was to become Bridgtown.

The changes to Churchbridge kept coming and the community was forever absorbing them. This book is all about that community and its resilience to most of what was thrown at it.

It tells the story of the people that lived there, their togetherness and the warmth that they shared with each other. A small community that accepted the external demands of growth within their own boundaries, accepting change as part of everyday life but always a community that lived and breathed life into itself, despite the many setbacks.

The book details that history by exploring the early days of the village, the Roman road, its industrial beginnings, housing development, motoring and Churchbridge Garage, devastation of opencast mining, the Merrie England project and finally the destruction caused by the M6 Toll Road.

Preserved

Bridgtown & District Local History Society is a progressive team of enthusiasts that meet regularly in their quest to ensure that the stories of old are preserved for future generations.

It boasts an impressive archive of photographs and documents that tell those stories in some detail and it is always ready to share that information with others of similar interest.

The book is priced at £6.

Caro is ready to Back It Up at NIA

MUSICAL highlights include the rescheduled date by Dutch singer and new mum Caro Emerald at the NIA on Saturday.

John Peel favourites Half Man Half Biscuit are at the Robin 2 in Bilston and punk survivors The Buzzcocks at The Institute, Digbeth, both tonight (Thursday). Tony Hadley, fresh from the Spandau Ballet reunion, will be singing his hits backed by an orchestra at the Symphony Hall in Birmingham on Friday. On Saturday music of The Beautiful South is presented by The South, featuring Dave Hemingway and Alison Wheeler from that fractured band, at the Robin 2. The same venue hosts an acoustic set by Cockney Rebel Steve Harley on Tuesday.

Out for the count with fangs and feet

PREPARE for a dance macabre when director and choreographer Mark Bruce brings his award-winning Dracula to DanceXchange at The Patrick Centre, the studio space in Birmingham Hippodrome. Jonathan Goddard plays the vampire aristocrat in a production that blends nightmare, eroticism and gore, October 15 to 18.

Other dance highlights include Birmingham Royal Ballet's triple bill, Shadows of War, which continues at Birmingham Hippodrome until Saturday. The company then tour before returning to the Hippodrome with festive treat The Nutcracker from November 28 to December 13.

Back to the 1960s for more music nostalgia and miniskirts

Gaga-ing to have a disco ball

FLAMBOYANT queen of dance-pop Lady Gaga brings her Artpop Ball to Birmingham city centre on Wednesday, October 15.

The New Yorker first made her mark on the music scene in 2008 with debut album The Fame, which went on to sell 15 million copies and spawned the hits Poker Face, Just Dance and Paparazzi.

Second and third albums Born This Way and Artpop also hit the top of the charts around the world.

Her latest, Cheek to Cheek, is a collaboration with veteran crooner Tony Bennett featuring classics from the American songbook, inspired by their success with The Lady Is A Tramp on his Duets II album in 2011.

But expect pounding disco pop and arty weirdness in equal measure when she entertains her Little Monsters at the NIA. She returns for a second session on November 13.

Lady Gaga will probably not be wearing the mask to her ball in Birmingham next week

DREAMBOATS and Miniskirts, the sequel to hit 1960s musical Dreamboats and Petticoats, will bring another helping of musical nostalgia to Birmingham next week.

Again written by Birds Of A Feather duo Laurence Marks and Maurice Gran, the musical reintroduces the characters from Dreamboats but now it's 1963 and Merseybeat rules with Beatlemania in full swing as our wanna-be pop stars try to avoid being one hit wonders. With a live band on stage, this jukebox musical at the New Alexandra Theatre from Monday to Saturday, October 18, with such hits at Twist and Shout, Be My Baby and Pretty Woman.

Also set in 1963, but on the other side of the Atlantic Ocean, is Wolverhampton Grand's autumn mega-hit Dirty Dancing, which builds up for its final climactic lift on Saturday night. Then Consider Yourself in for a treat when South Staffs Musical Theatre Company revive Lionel Bart's Dickens of a musical Oliver! Fagin, Bill, Dodger and Nancy will be picking a pocket or two from Tuesday to Saturday.

The inclusion of John Steinbeck's classic American novel Of Mice and Men on the syllabus is likely to mean lots of youngsters in the audience when Birmingham Repertory Theatre stage a version directed by Roxana Silbert from tomorrow until November 1.

The Rep's Studio features the return of Dame Janet

Dreamboats and Miniskirts

Suzman when the veteran actress appears alongside Khayaletu Anthony in Solomon And Marion. Written and directed by Lara Foot, it tells of an elderly woman and the grandson of her ex-servant forging a friendship in the volatile environment of post-apartheid South Africa. It is staged October 16 to November 1.

For The Past 30 Years, at The Rep Door venue from tonight to Saturday, is based on interviews with Birmingham women who worked in the same field for three decades, including health, education and criminal justice.

There is plenty to laugh about

THERE'S plenty to laugh about at the moment.

Pete Johansson is at The Slade Rooms in Wolverhampton tonight (Thursday) and the same venue hosts Tony Law on Friday and Simon Evans on October 16.

Across the city centre at the Civic and Wulfrun, Pub Landlord Al Murray returns on Friday and Paul Chowdhry performs on October 17.

Other comedy gigs include Doc Brown mixing stand up and hip hop at Birmingham Town Hall on Saturday.

Birmingham Glee Club highlights include James Acaster tonight, Tim Key on Tuesday and former Bilston resident Canadian comic Tom Stadel on Wednesday.

Singer Eddi will be the star attraction

Claire Danes

Homeland (Channel 4, 9pm)

New series. The multi-award-winning US drama makes a welcome return to our screens for its fourth season. The last time we saw Carrie Mathison, she was pregnant with the late Brody's baby and about to take up a new post overseas. When we see her again, she's been promoted to the position of CIA Chief of Station in Kabul and is about to make the biggest decision of her career – she's received some valuable intelligence about a high value target from her counterpart in Islamabad. Should Carrie trust the information and act on it, or wait for further events to unfold? Meanwhile, Saul Berenson is now working in the private sector but hates it – perhaps it won't be long before he's back in action too. Claire Danes and Mandy Patinkin star.

Rookie detective is doing things by the book

If you ever wondered what a pre-Batman origins story would look like filtered through the mind of The Mentalist creator Bruno Heller and helmed by CSI veteran Danny Cannon, then this is it.

One of the most talked about new dramas of the autumn, Gotham centres on brave, earnest new detective James Gordon (Ben McKenzie).

Eager to prove himself, he is partnered with the brash police veteran Harvey Bullock (Donal Logue), and the pair stumble upon Gotham city's highest profile case – the murder of local billionaires Thomas and Martha Wayne.

Gordon meets the sole survivor at the scene of the crime – the Waynes' 12-year-old son, Bruce (David Mazouz).

Moved by his loss, the rookie detective vows to catch the killer.

While navigating the shady world of Gotham's criminal justice system, Gordon crosses paths with gang boss Fish Mooney (Jada Pinkett Smith), mob kingpin Carmine Falcone (John Dorman), and many of the characters who will become iconic villains.

They include a teenage Selina Kyle/Catwoman (Camren Bicondova); pending Penguin Oswald Cobblepot (Robin Lord Taylor), and the future Riddler, Edward Nygma (Cory Michael Smith).

For Blighy's own Sean Pertwee, landing the role of Bruce Wayne's guardian/butler Alfred Pennyworth, it was something of a dream come true.

He admits he was a fan of the classic 1960s Adam West TV saga growing up.

"Absolutely. The famous shark scene stuck in my mind," Sean explains. "I've been a fan of the series right the way through."

"To be involved with a re-imagining of something I've loved is vaguely terrifying, but also not that it's out there, we are delighted that I think we've pleased the legions of fans and the legions of new fans that we hope to bring to it. We're very proud."

Perhaps the best comparison for Gotham is Superman origins series Smallville, which ran for a decade.

Is Sean prepared for the fact he could spend at least the next 10 years of his life filming in New York?

"Well that suits me fine," he explains. "Don't get me wrong; I love my home – I get very homesick when I watch Chelsea; I miss my home, but I can't tell you how lucky and proud I feel to be here."

The Gotham cast have become a close-knit family since production began. According to Pertwee, they "go to every table read together; we really try and keep our heads down and concentrate on the quality of the work."

As you'll see by this pilot, it's a stylish affair which may revisit the pivotal tragic alley shootings from Tim Burton's Batman and Christopher Nolan's Batman Begins, but then it becomes its own creature.

Like Gromit laying tracks in front of his runaway train, Sean Pertwee and the Gotham crew are busily trying to stay ahead of their production schedule while retaining the high production quality of this first instalment.

Ben McKenzie and David Mazouz star in Gotham, Monday, Channel 5, 9pm

Picking up where she left off, he travels to the village of Minchampton, where a woman was said to have been murdered by a local lad 25 years previously. Meanwhile, Sasha is left to cope with the investigating officer on the modern-day Miss Marple's murder – an overbearing contemporary from her Hendon training, by the name of DCI Grace Mackie – and Steve lets Gerry stay with him when he is evicted, but soon comes to regret the act of kindness.

Alan Sugar begins his 10th search for new business blood – and the fourth since he changed the format from a multi-week job interview to the search for a partner, offering the hopefuls a £250,000 investment in a new start-up company. As usual, the millionaire host sets out his stall with his introductory pep talk, after which the entrepreneurs are divided into teams and it's straight on with the first task – selling the past decade's worth of Apprentice goods in just one day. All the previous selling challenges' merchandise has been combined, and the teams – boys v girls, of course – must think outside the box to increase their margins. As in previous series, Nick Hewer and Karren Brady are Lord Sugar's 'eyes and ears', but the real fun comes in the boardroom, as the challenge is picked apart and the excuses come thick and fast, before the fired candidate takes a taxi ride home. Continues tomorrow. The Apprentice: You're Fired follows on BBC2.

WEDNESDAY

Waterloo Road

BBC1, 8pm

New series. Neil Pearson and Nicola Stephenson join the cast as new headmaster Vaughan Fitzgerald and his partner, art teacher Allie Westbrook, as Waterloo Road opens its doors for another new term. Vaughan is the kind of dynamic, forward-thinking chap the school needs, and while he and Allie are madly in love, their home life is far from easy thanks to their blended family – they have four children between them from previous relationships, and none of them gets along. Meanwhile, Christine promises she will help Darren deal with his difficult situation at home, but nothing could prepare them for what happens when they try to confront his mother. Finally, George discovers the hard way why nobody messes with the Barry family.

The Great Fire, Thursday, ITV, 9pm

THURSDAY

The Great Fire

ITV, 9pm

New series. Drama detailing the stories of the people of London during the Great Fire of 1666. Widower and single father Thomas Farriner is the king's baker, currently providing the Navy with bread and biscuits from his Pudding Lane bakery. His sister-in-law Sarah often helps out at the shop – a distraction from the fact her wayward husband (Thomas's brother) has been missing at sea for months now. Thomas is dismayed to learn from Navy official Samuel Pepys that it's unlikely he'll be paid for his latest job, owing to the expense of the war against the Dutch. However, he instead sends the baker away with a letter that could be the key to Sarah's closure. Meanwhile, in the palace of Whitehall, the king attends a stately dance, where an attempt on his life is foiled. Later, Thomas returns to find the bakery ablaze, with his two daughters asleep upstairs. Starring Andrew Buchan and Jack Huston.

Friday

Not Going Out

BBC1, 9.30pm

Lee Mack's not having much luck with lights these days, whether it's the fizzling sign at the start of this show, the blackout during his recent Sheffield gig, or the dimly lit area at the start of this seventh series. Lee and Lucy have enjoyed a spot of culture at their local cinema, but the sparkle of a French movie is soon diminished when the romantic walk home finds them in an imposing underpass. She has her handbag stolen by a bunch of cocky youths from under his nose. Given the fact the layabout failed to protect her, or come up with an accurate description of their muggers, Lee feels the urge to prove his manliness.

Audi's armchair motoring

By Graham Breeze

It had been a while since last driving the Audi A6 Allroad Quattro so a 300 mile motorway journey was the perfect test.

Because make no mistake the 3.0BITDi (313PS) version is the perfect motorway cruiser with just about everything you could want for that long and boring trip.

If armchair style comfort isn't enough to keep you happy then an engine which punches from 0-62mph in less than six seconds and will top speed at 155mph should keep you interested.

This A6 really does have the wow factor or enough X-factor to keep even Simon Cowell satisfied.

Complete with an eight-speed Tiptronic gear system this third generation A6 is stylish, comfortable and exciting to drive once you've remembered how to operate the maze of electronic add-ons which Audi has become famous for.

The recipe Audi follows to make the A6 Allroad hasn't changed much over the years but the concept has matured to meet the demands of the modern day motorist.

Adjustable air suspension is now used differently to raise the car only when needed, rather than giving the car a permanently raised off-road look. This adds to the eye-catching appearance which means that, although there are thousands of A6s on our roads, they still command a second glance.

Handle

The benefits of the four wheel drive system are immediately obvious and the A6 Allroad is a dream to handle, both on the motorway or on country roads.

Being able to dip the accelerator pedal at high speed and get an immediate and beautifully throaty response was the best part of driving this A6, meaning you could accelerate your way out of any motorway situation with ease.

Equipment levels are high, with all A6 models getting the MMI navigation system, leather upholstery, 18-inch alloy wheels, front and rear parking sensors and hill descent control.

The test car would set you back just over £49,000 but with the added extras that price shoots to £60,000.

For the extra £11,000 you get power door closing, a range-topping technology pack which gives MMI Navigation Plus,

'Audi success story goes on and on and if you're not frightened off by the price the A6 Allroad is a good 'choice'

Audi connect, a music interface, stop/start system and lane assist warning and lots of other add-ons.

There is also a Bose surround sound system, heated front seats and a glove compartment mounted CD changer.

What not to forget is that this is a five-door estate in layman terms and that means enough space in the boot area to help you move house. And with the rear seats folded flat its spacious enough to act as back-up for the local undertaker.

There are lots of practical touches, including straps, lashing points and a rail-based system for securing luggage.

The Allroad is brimming with safety equipment, including six airbags and stability control. Optional extras include rear side airbags.

While the cabin is typically Audi - spacious and comfortable - the one surprise is in the rear where carrying three passengers is not a comfortable proposition.

The Audi success story just goes on and on and if you're not frightened off by the price the A6 Allroad is a good choice.

Integra - great combination

By John Griffiths

Honda's latest Integra has something of an identity crisis: a bit like Clark Kent and his alter-ego the caped crusader.

It's deliberate, of course, as the company tries to widen the appeal of two wheelers and integrate some of the best features of bikes with those of a scooter. Hence the name: it's actually nothing to do with the Honda's Integra Type R, one of the best coupes of the 1990s.

Officially the £7,788 Integra is classed as a 'maxi scooter' and with a torquey 745cc twin cylinder engine and a top speed of around 100mph it's certainly near the top of that class.

It has first-class weather protection but with its excellent chassis and 17-inch wheels it has the stability and handling of a bike. That isn't a surprise, as apart from the bodywork its shares virtually everything with its stablemate the 750S

It would serve admirably as an easy-to-ride commuter scooter with what is probably the best automatic transmission on any two-wheeler, but unlike some of its smaller counterparts you can tackle some serious touring too.

Depending on how and where you ride it, everyday economy is between 60 and 70mpg – in fact the official figure is 80mpg. With a 14.1 litre tank that gives you an impressive range between fill-ups.

It has the comfort and performance to handle longer motorway runs, able to easily keep up the pace without leaving you feeling intimidated as other traffic treats you like a rolling roadblock. There's plenty of power to carry a pillion passenger, too.

The Integra isn't over-heavy at 237kgs: in fact it's a relative lightweight compared to some of its rivals and with its sturdy, shift chassis and bike suspension it's particularly stable in a straight line and doesn't dip and wallow in corners. In fact it corners like a motorcycle because, in all areas that count, it is one.

I have heard of one tester complain of scraping the bodywork through being over enthusiastic in a corner but from my own experience I don't know how. There were times when I used all the rear tyre's treaded area without any other sort of contact.

A big, well-shaped seat – almost an armchair by bike standards – and long footboards instead of pegs allow the rider a nice upright position but also the ability to shuffle about a bit, to avoid stiffness and numb rear-end syndrome when you've been sitting there for an hour or two.

Injected

The aerodynamic front end and large front screen are well designed to protect you from wind blast and rain. In fact on an autumn day in my heavy protective bike gear I felt too warm, the only noticeable breeze hitting the back of my neck (drawn in from the rear as in a convertible car).

The latest Integra's fuel injected engine has grown in size from 670 to 745cc, giving it an extra 3bhp (now just over 54) and a healthy 68Nm of torque, which is on a par with some bigger engine bikes such as Triumph's Bonneville.

The significance of that is smooth riding while maintaining relatively high gears for economy. Fourth around town at 30mph, for example, is easy going and impressively quiet, but the Integra has the ability to pick up its heels when required.

The second generation DCT transmission uses a 'proper' gearbox (as opposed to a CVT system) with an electronically controlled dual clutch system, similar to the Audi VW Group's acclaimed DSG unit.

It has two modes – Drive, which selects and holds the highest gear for the conditions to give you best economy and Sport, which is more responsive and allows the revs to get up towards the redline if you give it a big handful.

You can also change gear manually, using 'up' and 'down' buttons on the lefthand grip. It is very fast-acting, the electronics interpreting your requirements via movements on the throttle but the ability to change down one or two cogs with just the press of the thumb is ideal when, for example, you're setting up for a tight bend.

It's smoother and more responsive than any CVT system I've ridden, offering better rider connection with the bike as well as fuel and performance advantages.

The brakes – discs front and rear with ABS – are reassuringly effective and are operated by separate hand levers on the bars. Being more used to the normal bike arrangement, though, it did take a few miles to stop my right foot from pressing the footboards.

As the Integra is essentially built on a motorcycle frame, it lacks some of the cargo carrying capacity of more 'normal' scooters. The fuel tank is under the large hinged (and lockable) seat and in front of that there's a storage bag which will just about take a helmet. The configuration also means you throw your leg over the seat, bike-style, rather than the 'step through' facility of some scooters so there's no facility for a bag hook there. A rear luggage rack and box are on the accessories list.

The Integra's integrated design sets it apart from the herd and gives it an appeal all of its own.

It's more of an all-rounder than some of the pure scooter breed, with its motorcycle performance and handling which make it more fun, too.

Its combination of capabilities – nearly 100mph and almost 80mpg – plus its excellent transmission and more comfort and weather protection than most standard bikes make it an attractive alternative for some riders than more traditional designs on both sides of the fence.

New BMW will poach buyers from opposition

By Ian Donaldson

IT doesn't look at all sporty and power goes to the 'wrong' wheels for a BMW but the latest model from the Bavarian car maker is going to cause some large ripples in the sales pond.

For BMW expects the majority buyers of a new 2 Series Active Tourer to come from other brands, and half of them to be mature empty nesters, more likely to transport their grandchildren than their own offspring.

And these buyers won't care that the upright stance of the newcomer says 'practical' much more than sporty.

Indeed, they'll relish the space this releases for both people and luggage – and still admire the BMW badge on the bonnet.

They'll bother even less that this is the first BMW to drive through its front wheels – like almost every family car made these past many decades, but an absolute no-no in BMW terms until now.

Pushing power through the rear wheels is still best for absolute precision from the steering and making a powerful car punch through bends, but the 2 Series Active Tourer has other priorities, and manages pretty well anyway, thank you very much.

Patrolled

This is a car aimed at the heart of a quickly growing part of the car market, ignored until now by BMW but heavily patrolled for years past by Mercedes-Benz with its B-class and the posher versions of cars like the Ford C-Max and, a very recent arrival, the VW Golf SV.

All attempt a dash of style while remembering that practicality wins the day and the new BMW is a fine example of this principle.

It is barely longer than BMW's own 1 Series hatchback but a little taller than a BMW X1 SUV, resulting in a car that will fit four six-footers in comfort (five at a pinch) yet take up only modest amounts of road space.

A back seat that folds (easily from levers in the boot) in three sections and can be slid horizontally to favour luggage or rear passengers' legs, and an electrically powered tailgate as standard show BMW has taken everyday practicality to heart.

Under the bonnet there's a choice of a single petrol or diesel engine, with more arriving soon to offer more power and the option of all-wheel drive, a feature that will cost at least £29,175 to capture in a high-end only models.

In fact, the new Active Tourer starts from a much more reasonable £22,125, a figure that will strike fear into rivals with less prestigious badges.

Standard

That brings you a petrol powered 218i SE which, contrary to a very well earned reputation for mean levels of standard kit on upper crust German cars, is actually pretty well equipped.

Standard kit includes alloy wheels, DAB radio and Bluetooth, rear parking sensors, dual zone climate control, auto wipers and lights and the powered tailgate already mentioned.

Under the bonnet sits a new three-cylinder engine that promises good economy and feels plenty quick enough for the family-lugging role most Active Tourers will slip into – a drive over a variety of roads showed 40mpg on the strikingly clear dashboard that continues a BMW tradition of making things easier for the driver.

That continues with positive steering, a commanding driving position and buttons and switches that remind you of the car's quality every time you touch them.

Less impressive was a gearchange that puts first and reverse so close together that I started moving backwards at the lights until I learned to take more care and a ride that occasionally turned lumpy on some surfaces.

An automatic, diesel powered Active Tourer (from £24,205 plus £1,685 for the auto gears) pulled better still and showed 50mpg on a run and will win a lot of friends.

Hot Golf will bring a smile to your face

By John Griffiths

There's no other word for it: the Golf GTI is an icon, the car which 40 years ago spawned a host of imitators and fired the aspirations of car buyers the world over.

But successful car designers are people with passion and always have a desire to go one better, and for many years there's been a King Golf, a scorcher to rule over the world of hot hatchbacks.

That's the Golf R, and the latest, seventh generation model is the king of them all, the most powerful production Golf ever built with 300Ps (296bhp), a hefty 380Nm of torque and four wheel drive.

It's quick: 5.1 seconds from 0 to 62mph, eight tenths of a second quicker than its predecessor. You can shave another two tenths off that with the option DSG gearbox, putting it in the same territory as a Porsche 911 or Ferrari of only a few years ago.

Yet despite the extra performance (30PS more than its predecessor), the development of the 1,994cc turbocharged engine has made it leaner and greener too. An average of very nearly 40mpg and CO2 emissions of 165g/km are significantly better too.

There are four models, starting from a touch under £30,000 but the extra wedge isn't stopping enthusiasts from buying the Golf R in almost the same numbers as the standard GTI.

Equipment, safety and handling are also improved, including a newly developed version of VW's familiar Haldex four wheel drive system to put all that power down safely.

There's nothing 'in your face' about the Golf R. Petrol-heads and GTI fans apart, most fellow motorists will notice there's something special about the car but it's discreet, mature.

It gets 18-inch alloys with fat 225/40 low profile tyres, it sits lower on its sports suspension and has bigger disc brakes all round, plus quadruple exhaust tailpipes.

Then of course there is the subtle R badging, unique bumpers and side sills, a bigger air intake and modified grille.

Inside it is the best-equipped of all Golfs, with additions such as cloth/alcantara sports seats which are supportive and hold you snugly without the long distance discomfort of out and out 'buckets.'

The lowered, sports suspension keeps the body under control for sure, roll-free cornering but proved surprisingly supple, almost velvety, for a high performance car, ironing out the bumps of the A and B test roads.

Confidence

The steering has been sharpened up, too, with now only 2.1 turns of the wheel from lock to lock. Even though it's electric and not direct, it provides real feedback to the driver's hands and is lighter at low speeds (easier around town) and heavier for confidence on the open road. There's an optional 'dynamic chassis control' system for switching damping, throttle response and gearshift parameters in three stages between comfort and, for the first time 'race' mode. It will feel a bit quicker, but harder, too, which I'm sure many drivers may find too much of a sacrifice when the Golf R is more than quick and competent enough for British roads. If you're out for a track day, that would be a different matter.

There is, of course, an array of electronic safety systems necessary for a car of this character but the biggest boon to traction, cornering and handling is the new, fifth generation Haldex four wheel drive system.

Under low loads or when coasting, the Golf R is virtually a front wheel drive car to save fuel. But during cornering or in slippery conditions up to almost 100 per cent of the power can be transferred to the rear axle in fractions of a second to ensure stability.

The now familiar VW Audi DSG dual clutch automatic system costs an extra £1,415 but it's worth it. It's just so simple and relaxed to drive around town and in queues, but on the open road it reacts almost by telepathy (for instance holding the lower gear longer as you apply more pressure with your right foot). And, using the manual 'paddles', you can very rapidly drop one or two gears to set up for a corner without taking your hands off the wheel.

You get seven airbags as standard on the Golf R, plus ABS, stability control, emergency braking, automatic distance control and emergency braking systems.

The driver sits behind a multifunction, leather clad steering wheel and aluminium pedals. At the centre of the dash is the new touch screen control centre, which reacts to that sweep of the fingers familiar to smartphone users.

Compared to the standard GTI, VW's engineers have done a remarkable job to push the four cylinder engine's output from 220 to 300Ps, thanks to a new head, valves and turbocharger.

But while the Golf is a legend in the world of hot hatches, it's not a box which the Golf R fits neatly into. Yes it's a hatchback and a highly competent performer, but it's more grown up, more of an executive express than most of the breed.

It will bring a smile to your face (and the kids, too) without causing a scowl from your granny in the back because the ride is rattling her teeth.

New engine makes V40 even more tempting buy

By Ian Donaldson

Volvo continues to disentangle itself from a former owner with the introduction of new, more powerful and economical engines to its biggest selling range, the V40 hatchback.

For years Volvo was the prestigious, Swedish outpost of the Ford empire and, naturally, used Ford engines. Indeed a lot of other Ford bits too, in places where a buyer wouldn't see them, or care.

Now owned by Chinese company Geely, but with the same sensible, practical approach to all things mechanical that marks out Scandinavian design the world over, comes a set of new petrol and (much more important in the UK), diesel power units.

We're already the biggest buyers of the V40 line up in the world, with most UK sales going to company car users, and the extra tailpipe cleanliness of the latest diesel will only make the V40 an even more tempting buy, with lower pull on the monthly pay cheque.

Within the next 18 months every new Volvo will have an engine designed and built in-house. The new motors, called Drive-E, share enough design features to make them easier to build and mean a whole clutter of other designs can soon be ditched.

It's a change for the good, with the diesel putting out a class leading 190 horsepower and emitting few enough tailpipe nasties to qualify for zero road tax.

Positive

Against some seriously impressive opposition (think VW Golf, BMW 1 Series, Mercedes-Benz A-Class), the V40 impresses with its quietness, even from the cold start that usually has a diesel sounding like pebbles rattling round an empty oil drum.

It pulls well too, helped by a pleasantly positive gear-change and light clutch and recedes into a barely audible hum at a motorway cruise, where a lot of V40s are going to spend a lot of their working lives.

A mildly spirited drive showed an encouraging 54mpg on the nicely readable dashboard, where everything works the way you think it ought, in a very ordered Swedish way. You wouldn't believe how complex some car makers (think Japanese, often) can make the business of working a button or two.

The SE spec car seen here rode well on 17inch wheels, in contrast to the larger, fancier looking 18inch alloys on an automatic R-Design V40 tried later, which was not nearly as impressive.

That car's new eight-speed auto 'box took the toil out of traffic queues and changed with an imperceptible slur of revs and will be the perfect companion for citybound users. It showed 42mpg on test, still a decent result and worth the £1,550 asking price.

The latest V40 range starts at £18,995 but you suspect a lot of sales will centre on the well equipped, diesel engined SE Nav trim model, costing £25,770 before raiding an options list that tempts as much as any German prestige car makers range.

Every V40 has a pedestrian airbag hidden under the bonnet (a world first) and the range is the safest car ever tested by the respected EuroNCAP organisation. Very Swedish, that.

Ruggedly honest and with great charisma

By Ian Donaldson

Land Rover Discoverys have provided me with some properly hair raising off-roading moments in the past but today's car was driven exclusively on road, where you suspect the vast majority of Discos spend their working lives.

Given a smooth stretch of tarmac and this big, heavy car shrugs off the years and proceeds with enough puff to make you smile all the forces of nature being battered into submission.

It feels properly quick from the delightfully raised vantage point that has enraptured a generation or two of Discovery drivers. It's not hard to see why people who have sampled the high(er) life never want a return to the less elevated seat of, say, a humble hatchback.

But with the bulk of the car, which weighs rather more than the latest Range Rover thanks to its now ageing underpinnings, comes a realisation that suspension technology has moved on since the Discovery left the design office.

Gentle

Show it a bumpy main road and the wheels want to dance to their own tune, setting up a distant patter that you simply don't detect in the best of today's seriously focused 4x4s. It doesn't intrude, but you're surprised this gentle jogging is present at all.

Land Rover has shown its thinking for the next Discovery, with a design study that hints at a much more modern approach to the bits you can see and those you can't. It's going to be based on the (relatively) lighter and stiffer floorpan of the new Range Rover, to the obvious benefit of both ride and economy.

Talking of the latter, my fairly undemanding time with this anniversary machine showed an entirely credible 22mpg, a long way from the over-flattering figure Land Rover has to quote after putting its big baby through its lab-based economy test.

Slightly dated road manners apart, the Discovery retains enormous appeal. There's something ruggedly honest about the car, deliciously removed from most of the current obsession about 'lifestyle' motoring.

Let's hope the new Discovery keeps its honest side and downplays the Chelsea poseur bit.

Fingers crossed.

New BMW will poach buyers from opposition

By Ian Donaldson

IT doesn't look at all sporty and power goes to the 'wrong' wheels for a BMW but the latest model from the Bavarian car maker is going to cause some large ripples in the sales pond.

For BMW expects the majority buyers of a new 2 Series Active Tourer to come from other brands, and half of them to be mature empty nesters, more likely to transport their grandchildren than their own offspring.

And these buyers won't care that the upright stance of the newcomer says 'practical' much more than sporty.

Indeed, they'll relish the space this releases for both people and luggage – and still admire the BMW badge on the bonnet.

They'll bother even less that this is the first BMW to drive through its front wheels – like almost every family car made these past many decades, but an absolute no-no in BMW terms until now.

Pushing power through the rear wheels is still best for absolute precision from the steering and making a powerful car punch through bends, but the 2 Series Active Tourer has other priorities, and manages pretty well anyway, thank you very much.

Patrolled

This is a car aimed at the heart of a quickly growing part of the car market, ignored until now by BMW but heavily patrolled for years past by Mercedes-Benz with its B-class and the posher versions of cars like the Ford C-Max and, a very recent arrival, the VW Golf SV.

All attempt a dash of style while remembering that practicality wins the day and the new BMW is a fine example of this principle.

It is barely longer than BMW's own 1 Series hatchback but a little taller than a BMW X1 SUV, resulting in a car that will fit four six-footers in comfort (five at a pinch) yet take up only modest amounts of road space.

A back seat that folds (easily from levers in the boot) in three sections and can be slid horizontally to favour luggage or rear passengers' legs, and an electrically powered tailgate as standard show BMW has taken everyday practicality to heart.

Under the bonnet there's a choice of a single petrol or diesel engine, with more arriving soon to offer more power and the option of all-wheel drive, a feature that will cost at least £29,175 to capture in a high-end only models.

In fact, the new Active Tourer starts from a much more reasonable £22,125, a figure that will strike fear into rivals with less prestigious badges.

Standard

That brings you a petrol powered 218i SE which, contrary to a very well earned reputation for mean levels of standard kit on upper crust German cars, is actually pretty well equipped.

Standard kit includes alloy wheels, DAB radio and Bluetooth, rear parking sensors, dual zone climate control, auto wipers and lights and the powered tailgate already mentioned.

Under the bonnet sits a new three-cylinder engine that promises good economy and feels plenty quick enough for the family-lugging role most Active Tourers will slip into – a drive over a variety of roads showed 40mpg on the strikingly clear dashboard that continues a BMW tradition of making things easier for the driver.

That continues with positive steering, a commanding driving position and buttons and switches that remind you of the car's quality every time you touch them.

Less impressive was a gearchange that puts first and reverse so close together that I started moving backwards at the lights until I learned to take more care and a ride that occasionally turned lumpy on some surfaces.

An automatic, diesel powered Active Tourer (from £24,205 plus £1,685 for the auto gears) pulled better still and showed 50mpg on a run and will win a lot of friends.

RIDLEY

June

A million times we've needed you, a million times we've cried, if love alone could of saved you, you never would of died.

In life we loved you dearly, in death we love you still, in our hearts you hold a place, no one can ever fill.

It broke our hearts to lose you but you didn't go alone, part of us went with you, the day God took you home.

Sons Stephen, Ian, Maureen, Tammy, Grandchildren Donna, Alyson, Will, Kayleigh, Paige, Shane, Nathan, Chloe, Molly.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with its Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree. Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Cannock pay for missed chances

Cannock 2 Wimbledon 4
AFTER picking up three points away to third place Hamstead & Westminster, Cannock were confident that they could continue their success. But Wimbledon had other ideas and spoiled the party at Chase Park on Saturday.

Cannock fought well and created chances throughout but were eventually undone by their failure to convert a string of penalty corners and the speed of the Wimbledon counter attack.

With seconds to go before half time Phillip Ball fired home a reverse stick shot but Pete Jackson pounced on a loose ball to level.

Phil Roper put Wimbledon back ahead and two penalty corners put them 4-2 in front before Jackson pulled oneback. This weekend, Cannock journey to Canterbury. As the Midlands Leagues got under way, Cannock's other sides made a positive start. The 2nds won 4-0 against Rugby & East Warwick; the 3rds won 2-0 against the same club, the 4ths beat Beeston 3-1; the 6ths beat Wolverhampton 4ths 4-1 and the 8ths demolished Tamworth 10-1. The young 7th team however lost narrowly 0-1 away to Telford & Wrekin.

Soldiers gunned down by cup holders

THE Bridge fought back from a goal down to beat Rumping Cat 4-2 in the first round of the Aero Taxis Cup. Mark Thomas scored his sixth goal of the season with the equaliser, Josh Minton put the Bridge in front before sub Tom Roger Hinks added two.

Greenheath thrashed Pear Tree 11-2 with Aaron Evans notching a hat-trick and Les Bourne adding a goal from the halfway line.

White Lion knocked out the Castle 6-2 with Richard Tapper helping himself to a hat-trick, Adam Tonks a double and a goal from Man of the Match Mark Ellison.

Jubilee came from two down to knock out

Cannock Chase League

Trafalgar 5-2 after extra time in the Ron Terry Cup. Rob Meachen scored two. AFC Victoria became the first team this season to beat King George, knocking them out of the cup 5-2. Cheslyn Hay knocked out local rivals Hawkins 4-0.

The Cannock Chase Cup Round Two saw Premier League Huntington knock out third division Soldiers 8-0. The 2013 winners are on the march again with two hat-tricks from Tom Green and John Austin.

Harrisons climb to fourth place in the Premier League after beating Belt Road 3-0. Goals came from Danny Farmer, Mitch Clark and Sam Taylor. In Division One, Bar Sport won only their second game of the season beating Lea Hall 3-1 to do the double over them.

Wheatshaf thrashed AFC Jubilee 10-1. Brian Coney scored eight goals making that 26 goals in eight games and brother Lee scored the other two. Chase Spartans go top after beating Wyrley Juniors 2-1.

Colliers Arms beat Nelson Inn 6-3. Man of the Match Liam Sanderland scored a hat-trick, while Crystal Fountain pulled off a great team performance to beat the leaders Victoria 3-1. The Hen House climb to third in Division Two thanks to a 7-0 beating over local rivals Bell & Bottle. Mark Simms capped the Man of the Match award with a hat-trick, Liam Martin chipped in with a double and Jack Connolly and John Cox added a goal each.

In Division Three, Pied Piper climb a place by beating Darlaston Green 7-0. Both Dave Brazier and Dan Stevens fought over the match ball by getting hat-tricks.

Cannock Rangers had to thank super sub Andy Talbot for his two goals to beat Move-corp 3-1.

Defensive drills pay dividends for visitors

Church Stretton 3 Cannock 1sts 24
CANNOCK faced newcomers Church Stretton in the first round of RFU Vase competition. Despite still having large numbers missing, they were confident of making progress.

However, it was the hosts that started on the front foot and went into an early lead, which stemmed from an apparent butt by Gary Trow in the scrum.

It was the only score they managed, however, as Cannock upped the ante.

Their first try came following a slow first 20 minutes for the visitors. From a rolling maul the ball made its way through the backs and Josh Humphries played in Jord Pincombe.

Five minutes later after a storming break from Daniel Blake, quick recycling and quick hands again this time allowed Humphries to send Dan Mayle over for the try and give Cannock a 12-3 interval lead.

Thwarted

Cannock skipper Jon Freeman glided through would-be tacklers and nearly put Sonny Stanaway through at the start of the second half. A strong run from the Church Stretton centre was thwarted by a last ditch tackle from Scott Lathe which allowed Freeman to gain a penalty following superb breakdown work.

An audacious quick tap right on the try line saw the ball in Mayle's hands who literally gassed everyone on the pitch to score his second of the game and take Cannock 17-3 to the good. Cannock, with the lion's share of possession were putting it to good use. Experiments in the backs were going well with Whitnell and Humphries looking dangerous, along with the back three.

Neil Cartwright entered the fray and took a quick tap, nearly getting clobbered by six players. But he managed to fire the pass off and Joe Brooke finished off with the fourth try.

Lee Stanaway, assistant first team coach said: "It was a frustrating first half following by a satisfying second. However what was more pleasing that our defensive drills in training are starting to pay dividends with only two tries conceded in 320 minutes of rugby."

Handsworth 3rds 50
Cannock 3rds 5

A depleted thirds travelled to Handsworth and the score flattered the hosts with Cannock enjoying the majority of the possession.

However, it was the speed of their opponents' backs that was to prove their undoing with Cannock's only try coming from a quick tap penalty taken by Alisdair Richards. It was afternoon to forget

Manset's first for Saddlers is the winner

Mathieu Manset scores the Saddlers' winner at Rochdale, his first goal for the club

Rochdale 0 Walsall 1

WHAT a difference three weeks makes.

Just 21 days after they were humbled at Spotland the Saddlers gained some revenge, as they sent the hosts spiralling out of the Johnstone's Paint Trophy.

Their victory came courtesy of the best move of the match, expertly finished by Mathieu Manset for his first goal for the club.

It has not been the best start to life at the Saddlers for the French striker but his much-improved performance was one of several highlights, in a side which featured six changes from Saturday's 1-1 draw with Bristol City.

Even more pleasing was a first away win of the season and progress in a competition where the Saddlers have failed to sparkle in recent years. For the first time in eight years, they are into the third round. Manset showed his intentions from the very start, driving a shot into the side-netting via a slight deflection in the opening two minutes.

The Saddlers stunned the hosts on 23 minutes when Manset put the finishing touch on a fine move which saw James Baxendale find Grimes, whose slide pass was deftly nudged by the Frenchman under home keeper Conrad Logan.

Hodson Khan-not handle opponent

GREAT Wyrley ABC continued its busy start to the season with a trip to the very plush but hostile surroundings of the Diamond Banqueting Suite.

Daniel Hodson, aged 13, found the movement of host club Merridale ABC Mian Khan too much to handle and dropped a unanimous decision in this cadet contest.

These two meet again on Great Wyrley's show on November 1.

Twenty-one-year-old Jay Brown made his debut against Merridale ABC's strong Conner Walker in a Middleweight contest and dropped a very close decision over the new distance of three, three minute rounds and without headguards.

Walker, who had sold in the region of 50 tickets, made a fast start as the tall, rangy Brown struggled to shake off the early nerves. But it went down to the last round and Brown's workrate seemed to have nicked it as Walker tired badly over the longer distance.

However Walker took a unanimous decision to send his fans delirious with delight.

Tickets for the November 1 show at Great Wyrley Sports and Social Club are priced at £10. Ring Pete on 07957 601 424.

Inside track on defence

WOLVES boss Kenny Jackett says the solution to their defensive woes lies within – as he declares he's hopeful of keeping Bakary Sako.

Richard Stearman was at fault in the build-up to both Wigan goals in Saturday's 2-2 draw as Wolves made it eight against in three games after conceding just three in the first eight.

But the head coach is confident they can use the two-week break to iron out the defensive problems which have led to an air of uncertainty in the back line.

"It's been a strength of ours previously and we know where we need to improve and we have the players to do it," said Jackett.

"We've been solid and we have something to base

Visitors pull clear in last quarter

Burntwood 2nd XV 12
Willenhall 2nd XV 22

WITH no 1st XV fixture due to a bye in the RFU Midlands Cup, the 2nd XV took centre stage at The Sportsway.

It proved to be a close encounter until the last quarter when the visitors managed to pull clear with two converted tries.

The deadlock was broken with a penalty goal to the visitors for a lead which lasted until five minutes before the break, hooker Zak Shingler setting up Craig Seedhouse for the game's first try.

Willenhall missed the chance to regain the lead when a long range penalty kick drifted wide.

The visitors mounted early second half pressure which was rewarded with their first try. They then blew a real opportunity when a player knocked on with the line at his mercy.

A converted try extended Willenhall's lead and with time almost up they sealed their win with a try and conversion.

There was still time for Burntwood to have the last say as Langford crossed the line and Seedhouse added the extras.

There was a better outcome for the 3rds in their first outing of the season as they beat Wolverhampton 3rds 33-5.

Martial arts mates up for a fight

THREE Mixed Martial Arts team-mates fight for British championship belts in Cannock this weekend.

Tobias Reid, Oliver Winter and Jack Owen top the bill on "LFC5 night of Champions" at the Premier Suite, in High Green on Saturday.

Reid takes on Walsall fighter Dom McDermott for the coveted 77kg Pro British title, while Winter faces Cheltenham's Lawrence Tracey for the 77kg Amateur British belt and Owen takes on Liam Bird from Canterbury when he defends his 70kg British Amateur crown.

Ladies get off the mark with win

Cannock Ladies 1sts 1
Liverpool Sefton Ladies 1sts 1

CANNOCK got off the mark in the Investec Women's Hockey League Northern Conference in dramatic style equalising with the last strike of the game.

Both teams were targeting a first win and Cannock were fortunate to reach half time on level terms thanks to some stalwart defending and good goalkeeping. It was Liverpool who finally broke through and looked to have clinched the win with five minutes to go. However Cannock won a penalty corner as time expired from which player of the match Lisa Heeley rifled home a crucial goal. Cannock host Ben Rhydding at 2pm on Saturday.

Cannock Ladies 2nds 2

Olton & West Warwick Ladies 2nds 0
A confident Cannock team dominated the game and quickly saw Sophie Tibbetts score the opening goal.

Later a fabulous reverse stick strike by Hettie Pigott made the score 2-0. Player of the match was awarded to Mary Clarke.

Cannock Ladies 3rds 3
Aldridge Ladies 1sts 0

Both sides came into the game unbeaten with Cannock sitting top of the league.

A Becky Cooper goal gave Cannock a 1-0 lead at half time. A Jess Bailey double in the second half gave Cannock the win and keep them at the top of the table.

Cannock Ladies 4ths 0
Bloxwich Ladies 2nds 0

Both sides had many chances in both free play and short corners, but the defence held strong for both sides. Cannock travel to Tamworth Seconds next week.

Cannock Ladies 5ths 2
Bloxwich Ladies 5ths 0

A first half goal from April Waterman put the visitors ahead. A second at around 40 minutes put Cannock comfortably in front, the final touch from Jasmine Rainer, a 13-year-old who joined the team at the beginning of the season.

Cannock dominated possession for much of the game and a change in formation saw more attacking play. Fast movement on the wings created several more clear chances on goal, but the match ended a 0-2 win for Cannock.

Lockmen fightback brings a victory

Continental Star 2
Willenhall Town 3

A superb fightback from The Lockmen saw them snatch victory with an 88th minute penalty from two-goal hero Craig Sudlow.

The Reds made the worst possible start as they conceded on three minutes with Garfield Robinson firing a shot into the roof of the net from a tight angle.

On 51 minutes Star doubled their advantage when former Reds favourite Danico Johnson held off two defenders and neatly side-stepped keeper Ben Holden to score.

The fightback started on 58 minutes when a delightful interchange of passes between Craig Sudlow and Mattie Dorgan saw the latter find Mikey Clark who finished superbly past Rob Dolman.

Five minutes later it was all square. Graham Ashton curled a free-kick in from the left to the far post where Sudlow was unmarked to guide a perfectly placed header back across the keeper and into the far corner of the net.

They survived a couple of scrambles in the six yard box before Sudlow scored the decisive penalty on 88 minutes.

Pauls apart as two goals make difference

Boston United 0 Hednesford Town 2

TWO goals in four first half minutes ensured Hednesford Town picked up their first away win of the season, writes Scott Smith.

Goals from Paul McCone and Paul Sullivan proved the difference between the two sides. However, this was Rob Smith's side's best away performance so far this season and the Pitmen could well have won by a larger margin.

The Pitmen made five changes from the team which had been defeated in the FA Cup the previous weekend with McCone, Chris Westwood, Sullivan and new signing Jamie Crowther all coming into the side as they switched to a 5-3-2 formation.

The first real chance arrived in the 20th minute as good interplay saw Alex Melbourne get to the byeline and his cross in was headed wide by Sullivan at the back post.

Recovery

Despite having plenty of possession Hednesford still had to remain switched on at the back and in the 33rd minute, McCone made a brilliant recovery tackle to deny Conor Robinson. Five minutes later David Fallah headed over from inside the six-yard box.

It was Town who struck first though in the 39th minute. A corner from the right-hand side found McCone who, despite seeing his first effort clawed out by goalkeeper Paul Farman, was on hand to bundle the ball home for his first goal of the season.

Four minutes later things got even better for Hednesford as they made it 2-0. McCone once again caused havoc inside the penalty area and his knockdown found Sullivan. He shifted the ball onto his left-foot and finished clinically into the bottom corner of the net from 12 yards out.

The second half was barely 60 seconds old when the home side went close to pulling a goal back, Liam Marrs' cross going narrowly wide of Crane's back post.

In the 73rd minute, The Pitmen had a chance to make it 3-0 when Melbourne stole possession but with only Farman to beat the midfielder scuffed his shot into the keeper's arms.

Hednesford were boosted further in the final minute as striker Steve Diggins made his first appearance after nearly two months on the sidelines following an injury picked up just before the start of the season.

Boston United: Farman, Marrs, Steer, Dowie, Garner, Galinski, Hollingsworth (Marshall 51), Fallah (Dixon 51), Southwell, Robinson, Meadows (Doran 65); Subs not used: Tempest, Felix.
Hednesford Town: Crane, Hurst, Campion, Bailey, McCone, Westwood, Osborne (Thorley 76), Crowther, Glover (Digin 89), Sullivan (Peers 85), Melbourne; Subs not used: Robinson, Ashmore. Attendance: 982

Chasetown take down the champs

CHASETOWN A got off to a flying start by beating reigning champions Sapphets in Division 1 of the Wolverhampton City Netball League.

Sapphets having to settle for a solitary point, losing out by six goals 30-24.

In Division 2 the Ladybirds, missing a wing (player short) struggled against Dolls 1 who took advantage, winning the game 30 goals to 18.

Cresta got the better of Jupiter in Division 3, netting 35 goals to Jupiter's 11.

Division 5's Diamond girls played Allsortz, winning 17-5. Newcomers Lunes strong shooting duo were in fine form scoring 37 goals to Sam 5's 12 to give them two consecutive wins.

Exploit home factor – Smith

HEDNESFORD boss Rob Smith has challenged his players to use the Keys Park factor to climb the table – after admitting the exit of Kris Taylor was the right decision for the club.

The Pitmen hosted Colwyn Bay to kick off four successive home games in the next 11 days with Hyde and Bradford Park Avenue to follow in the league and Tamworth in the Birmingham Senior Cup.

And Smith is looking for a positive response to build on Saturday's 2-0 win at Boston.

"It seems we've been on a coach forever recently so it will be good to get back home after what was probably our best performance of the season," said Smith.

"Hopefully we can put on some good performances and get the crowds in and push on up the table."

Meanwhile, Smith suggested Taylor had been a victim of circumstance as James Crowther has been signed from Barrow.

"Kris was a popular character and a very good footballer, and in an ideal world I'd have kept him, but the repercussions of going out of the FA Cup meant I had to make changes, so I did," said the boss.

"I'm sure Kris will get fixed up very quickly."

Pics suffer in comeback

Ilkeston 2 Rushall 1
ILKESTON came from behind to beat Rushall in the Evo-Stik Premier Division.

Rushall had the first chance of a half they dominated but Aaron Farrell shot wide when through one-on-one.

Rushall opened the scoring on 35 minutes when Aaron Williams made it three in three, firing in off the post as Ilkeston failed to clear a Rooney free-kick.

Farrell shot a good chance wide before Carl Palmer saw his shot deflected wide with Smith scrambling.

Ilkeston almost levelled 20 seconds after the restart but Belford saved point blank from Rob Duffy. However, Duffy held off Jack Duggan to beat Belford 60 seconds later.

The home side took the lead after 63 minutes through Kane Richards.

Let's go up and keep Sako, urges Edwards

DAVE EDWARDS has urged Wolves to win promotion again so they can keep Bakary Sako.

Sako is out of contract at the end of the season and has scored five goals in the first 11 games.

Wolves boss Kenny Jackett wants to keep the Mali international, but having signed when the club had just been relegated from the Premier League, the 26-year-old's £25,000-a-week earnings fall well above the levels of the current squad.

"We're lucky to have him and hopefully we can go up to the Premier League together so the club hasn't got a decision to make on his contract," said Edwards.

"But I'm sure the club are doing all they can to keep him."

"It's up to Sako and the club to see what happens but it will definitely make it easier to keep him if we're in the Premier League next season."

"Hopefully that's something we can achieve. He's a Premier League player – everyone at the club knows that because he's got so much ability." Sako was Wolves' equal 13-goal top scorer last season and Edwards believes the former St Etienne wide-man has become a major player for the club.

"The season we got relegated he was our best player and then last season his goals and assists were there for all to see, as they are this year," said the Wales international. "He's a key player because even if he's having a bad game, he can produce that moment of quality."

"He did it on Wednesday and Saturday to try to get us back into the game."

"He's a very good professional and he's got that quality you really need in this league – he's one of those who's going to give his all."

Edwards believes Sako will hit double figures again.

"He's always going to get double figures with the power he's got in his left foot and the finesse we saw with Saturday's finish," he said.

"He is a great finisher – he's got so much power that a lot of the time the ball is past the goalkeeper before they can see it. I can only dream of hitting a ball that hard but you also have to look at the assists he gets."

Dean in call to players

DEAN SMITH has urged his players to maintain their current standards.

But since then Smith's team have taken five points from three games and earned an impressive point in a 1-1 draw with League One leaders Bristol City on Saturday.

"The players know the sort of levels they have got to be at in every game they play."

"The last two games have been really good performances at home as well and we had a good crowd there on Saturday when we played Bristol City. Hopefully we have given them something to go home and talk about."

Smith will be due to get an update on the fitness of top scorer Tom Bradshaw, who was forced off after just 35 minutes of Saturday's game with a hamstring strain.

On the plus side, the manager was able to hand Jordan Cook his first competitive senior action of the season as the Saddlers injury troubles continue to ease. "It's nice to have him, Manny (Mathieu Manset), Grimesy (Ashley Grimes) and Billy Clifford to come on," said Smith.

Sweat on over hurt Bradshaw

WALSALL are sweating on the fitness of top scorer Tom Bradshaw as he underwent a scan on his injured hamstring.

The 22-year-old was definitely out of the Johnstone's Paint Trophy clash at Rochdale and the Saddlers are keeping their fingers crossed his injury is just a strain and not a tear.

SIDE CAN'T KEEP COLWYN AT BAY

Hednesford Town 0 Colwyn Bay 2

HEDNESFORD TOWN failed to build on their win over Boston as they slumped to a 2-0 defeat to Colwyn Bay in the Conference North.

Two second-half goals from Obi Anoruo and Rob Hopley continued Colwyn Bay's unbeaten away record at Keys Park on Tuesday night.

The Pitmen started with three centre halves, but with wing backs Darren Campion and James Hurst unable to get forward, struggled to get a foothold in midfield.

Anthony Stevens hit two wild free-kicks over the bar in the opening 20 minutes and Wesley Baynes snatched at a decent chance from the edge of the area for the visitors but the turning point in the game came shortly before the break.

Bundled

Alex Melbourne's weak shot was helped on by Paul Sullivan and Danny Glover bundled the ball into the net at the back post only for the linesman to raise his flag and cut short the Keys Park celebrations.

Anoruo broke the deadlock on 55 minutes when he skipped past Darren Campion on the byline and crossed for Hopley to sweep the ball past Dan Crane and, despite Hurst twice missing the target from the edge of the area, the Hednesford defence stood appealing for an offside that never came and Anoruo doubled Colwyn Bay's lead on 68 minutes.

The Pitmen threw caution to the wind chasing a goal to halve the arrears but Sullivan and Glover both missed chances towards the end.

Loughborough Dynamo 3 Chasetown 2

Chasetown shocked high-flying Dynamo and took the lead after 18 minutes when left back Jonathan Haynes found acres of space and curled a right foot shot high beyond James Lindley.

Loughborough levelled with a well-worked build up and Brad Munn curled beyond John Bateman.

The Scholars deservedly took the lead when Nick Wellecome drilled a low effort into Lindley's bottom right hand corner.

The home side levelled again when the ball was cut back to Steve Towers who side footed home.

Carlton bank points in away day upset

Hednesford's Nathan Waite comes under pressure during the match against Carlton Town

Chasetown 0 Carlton Town 3
CHASETOWN conceded three goals at home for the third league game in a row, but this time were unable to turn the match on its head as they had done previously by winning 5-3.

The visitors had not picked up a single point away from home in the league this season but blew away their hosts in a nine-minute spell midway through the second half – Carlton's first ever victory over the Scholars, at the eighth attempt. After a lacklustre first half with very little for either goalkeeper to do, it looked like Chasetown would gain the initiative in the second half.

Nathan Waite was a whisker away from turning the ball home from Simon Brown's centre. Nick Wellecome then forced a save from McDonald early on and it looked likely that Chasetown would take command. However, on 69 minutes, the visitors took the lead when Lee Potts chipped the ball beyond goalkeeper John Bateman from inside the penalty area.

A minute later, the Nottinghamshire side went 2-0 clear, with Aaron Hooton netting with a right footed shot.

The Scholars were killed off when Hooton's shot was parried but sub Anton Robinson poked the rebound home from close range.
